Mr. J. F. Dulles

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 18. Washington's corps of accredited White House correspondents evaluated Adlai Stevenson's first Capital City press conference as on the asset side.

GOP Chairman Leonard Hall, for some unfathomable reason, had been demanding of Stevenson that he say whether he agreed with former President Truman who allegedly had said he, Truman, still was not sure whether Alger Hiss had been a Communist spy.

This demand was helpful to Stevenson. It again enabled him to dramatize his independence of person and thought. Nominee Stevenson could, and did, reply that five years ago he had said in a public speech that he accepted, and believed, the verdict of the jury which found Hiss guilty.

In 1952, Adlai Stevenson privately believed a great many changes were needed in Washington. But being the nominee of the party then in power, he could not do other than run on the record. At Chicago this year, Mr. Truman himself launched a desperate assault on Stevenson. Now, the Republican chairman has made it possible for Mr. Stevenson again to call national attention to his independent position.

Alger Hiss

The Washington press corps, knowing that one of the strongest recommendations and promotions for Alger Hiss came from John Foster Dulles, now secretary of state, wondered the more why Chairman Hall was opening the campaign with so demagogic a start. The truth is Hiss fooled everyone, including the FBI and the congressional committees. Not until his vanity led him to make himself vulnerable to an old associate, Whitaker Chambers, was he "caught." And among those deceived was Mr. Dulles.

Harper's Magazine (September) has an article on Secretary Dulles by Joseph Harsch, one of the more able of the Washington correspondents. He discusses Mr. Dulles' earnest support of Hiss in illustrating a facet of Mr. Dulles' methods. . . . A great many innocent persons, including Mr. Dulles, helped Hiss.

Mr. Nixon has begun his tour and Mr. Dulles is in London discussing Suez. The latter is of much more importance to the country than is Mr. Nixon's journey.

The two political personalities most discussed here in Washington, as to liability and asset content, are the Messrs. Dulles and Nixon. Mr. Dulles, the record shows, has pretty well adjusted himself to events. He has shaped none. He hopes the nation has forgotten that three and a half years ago Mr. Dulles was declaring he would take foreign policy off Acheson's "dead center" and make of it a bold and living thing, thereby liberating Formosa and other peoples subject to the Russians, and rolling back the Iron Curtain. None of this has been accomplished. Indeed, Communist powers have since won half of Indo-China and made gains in south-eastern Asia.

Suez Question

Until the new government safely is installed in Panama, this country will keep its foot on the soft Suez Canal pedal. Later we may play a louder tune if Egypt's bellicose Mr. Nasser does not listen to the Indian persuasion and make an agreement.

"A related quality," wrote Mr. Harsh on Dulles, "is his facility for disentangling himself from embarrassments. In 1947, he had nominated Alger Hiss, with the highest recommendations, for the post of director of the Carnegie Endowment. When the pumpkin papers were unearthed in August, 1948 he and Dean Acheson were both vulnerable to criticism because of their past associations with Hiss; Mr. Dulles was, if anything, more so because he had provided Hiss with refuge at the Carnegie Endowment after Hiss had been maneuvered out of the State Department under Mr. Byrnes."

At any rate, Washington newsmen wonder why Mr. Hall should be digging up Hiss when his own Mr. Dulles was prominent among those who had recommended and endorsed the brilliant young intellectual. Was Mr. Hall simply opening the door for Vice President Nixon to inaugurate a campaign of smears? And, if so, would he include Mr. Dulles?

Expressway To Be Finished With 90 Pct. Federal Funds

By JACK NELSON

The $50,000,000 job of completing the Atlanta Expressway System will be done with 90 per cent federal funds under the interstate highway program, Roger Lawson, chairman of the State Highway Board, said Tuesday.

Lawson revealed the Expressway's part in the interstate program following a meeting he called of all governmental agencies concerned with the expressway system. He said another meeting will be held in 60 days.

Except for an eight-mile Decatur connection with the Expressway, the entire system has been declared eligible for interstate funds. Lawson said the Decatur connection, originally scheduled as a three-mile stretch, was excluded by the Bureau of Public Roads in its last mileage apportionment for Georgia.

HOPES FOR MORE MILEAGE

"Since then," he said, "Congress has added 1,000 miles to the original 40,000 miles of the interstate program . . . and we hope to get some of the additional 1,000 miles."

"We have renewed our application for the Decatur connection and propose an eight-mile stretch that will extend it by way of Scott boulevard to the proposed circumferential highway."

Lawson said the Decatur connection has been given "top priority" in Georgia's applications for additional mileage under the interstate program. He expects the application to be approved.

STATE PUTS UP 10 PER CENT

Under the interstate program, the federal government furnishes 90 per cent of the funds and the state 10 per cent.

Mayor Hartsfield had urged at the meeting that the entire Expressway system be completed under the interstate program.

Atlanta and the State Highway Board apparently reached agreement at the meeting on a proposed airport connector to the Expressway.

M. L. Shadburn, state highway engineer, reported the city has made topographic maps on the proposed Montgomery interstate route which would provide for an airport connection road.

AIRPORT CONNECTOR

He said that unless the Montgomery route "is blocked by extensions or changes in the airport runways or other facilities, there may be a direct spur run to the airport main entrance from this Atlanta-Newman route. There should be an early decision upon this matter."

Hartsfield commented that airport expansion would not interfere with the route. He said the Civil Aeronautics Administration has given a written agreement that the city's proposed airport connector would not conflict with airport expansion plans.

Shadburn agreed with Hartsfield that the CAA agreement should speed up completion of plans for the airport connector.

So far the Expressway system has cost more than $33,000,000. When the system is completed, it

U.S., Tito Agree On Aid to Farms

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Sept. 18 (U) — The United States and Yugoslav governments announced today that agreement had been reached on releasing an additional $4,800,000 from counterpart funds to be used for agricultural projects in this country.

This brought to $129,316,333 the amount released from the counterpart fund. The fund is made up of Yugoslav money put up by the government to equal U.S. aid grants for purchase of food, coal, fertilizers, industrial raw materials, and other products.

Court Permits DeKalb To File '56 Tax Digest

A Superior Court judge Tuesday cleared the way for filing of the 1956 DeKalb County tax digest and the collection of taxes.

At the same time the way was opened for a hearing by the State Supreme Court on 26 citizens' charges of illegal tax assessments.

Tax Commissioner Fred Nash said this year's digest will be filed by Friday with the State Revenue Department. Compilation of the digest was completed Tuesday.

Judge Clarence L. Vaughn signed a bill of exceptions Tuesday which acted as a writ of supersedeas between the county and 26 citizens, headed by Herschel H. Hutchins of Lithonia. The bill enjoined the county from collecting from the 26 "taxes in excess of those levied in the year 1955 against the same property until the final disposition of this matter in the Supreme Court of Georgia."

It also provides that the Treaty Limit On Japanese Textiles Seen

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (UP)—

Rep. Charles Jonas (R-N.C.) predicted today after a White House visit that the United States and Japan will announce an agreement soon restricting Japanese textile imports.

Jonas told President Eisenhower and presidential assistant Sherman Adams the South's "great concern" is the possibility that Japanese textile imports "may run away in the future if they are not restricted."

"I am very pleased to report that the administration is and has been concerned about the situation and is actively engaged in trying to work out an agreement with Japan for a limitation on the importation of cotton goods," Jonas said.

He added that further negotiations are in progress to limit imports within individual categories such as shirts, sheeting, blouses and velveteen. He said talks on the over-all agreement and on individual categories are under way in Washington.

He expressed confidence that agreements "will be forthcoming shortly."

THE HOME FRONT

On the home front, he said, great progress toward equitable distribution of the nation's economic product had been made during the last 3½ years although the system still is not as perfect as it will be at some future date.

Addressing himself to the nation's farmers, whose dissatisfaction is a cause of real concern to party leaders, the President said his administration had taken them "out of a system that repeated over and over the mistakes of the past and made the situation worse."

Now, the farmer has cause for hope that he will share equitably.

Fists Rock, Roll Marines, Sailors

NEWPORT, R.I., Sept. 18 (U)—Some 1,500 sailors, Marines and women campions were involved in a "rock 'n' roll" riot at the Newport Naval Base just before midnight, police reported.

The servicemen and girls were dancing to the music of Fats Domino when a fist fight quickly spread through the enlisted men's club.

School Bars 8 Negroes At Sturgis

Kentucky Finds
Decision Legal

STURGIS, Ky., Sept. 18 (U)—The Union County board of education today voted to turn Negro students away from the Sturgis High School Wednesday after obtaining legal support for the action from the state attorney general.

The board's five members voted unanimously to order the eight Negro students, who have been attending the high school for more than a week, to enroll at the all-Negro Dunbar High School at Morganfield, Ky. It also voted that Negro children in Sturgis shall attend the all-Negro consolidated school here.

TO READ ORDER

Union County School Supt. Carlos Oakley said the Negro students will be read the board's order by high school Principal Earl Evans when they arrive at school Wednesday morning.

Earlier today State Atty. Gen. Jo M. Ferguson informed school board attorneys Tom Wathen and E. R. Morton that in his opinion the board could bar the students from Sturgis High School.

Ferguson said the ruling he made last week, which enabled the Webster County school board to bar four Negro students from the Clay Consolidated School, applied to the Sturgis situation.

ORDERS MEETING

The Union County board also instructed the county integration committee to meet before Oct. 6, to study integration policy. If no decision is reached by that date, the committee will continue meeting until it can recommend a solution.

Ferguson's opinion said that a ruling he made last week enabling the Webster County School Board to bar Negro children from the Consolidated School at Clay, Ky., "would also be applicable to your situation."

NO RESOLUTION

Ferguson's opinions are based on the theory that since the Supreme Court placed the responsibility for desegregation of schools in the hands of school boards, no parent or group of parents can enter a Negro child in a segregated school without consent of the board.

It had been widely believed during the past week that the Union County board did pass a desegregation resolution several weeks ago, but today a board member said this was not the case.

Less than 50 white students attended classes along with eight Negroes at Sturgis High School today, out of a total enrollment of 275. Many of the white students were varsity football players who must be in class three days a week to stay eligible.

'We'll Blow Your Head Off,' Bandits Tell Banker in High Noon Stickup

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark., Sept. 18 (U)—Two young men today entered the little bank of Dover during a noon-hour lull, forced a lone bank official to lie down behind a counter and escaped with about $12,500 in cash.

"If you stick your head above the counter, we'll blow it off," the bandits told Charles Poynter, the assistant cashier. Although Pope County sheriff Terrell Bishop arrived at Dover, a town of 500 about nine miles north of here, only a few minutes after the robbers escaped by automobile, there were indications that the trail was cold.

Witnesses reported they saw a car—matching the description of the one used by the bandits—heading into the Ozark National Forest, where there are numerous side roads. Poynter said the two men started to look him in the vault but he told them he was the only person in town who knew the combination and that he was afraid he might smother before rescuers could reach him. (Another bank official who knew the combination was out of town). The robbers left Poynter on the floor.

The clerk said the unmasked men were about 25 years of age, of medium height and build, and "kinda dirty."

Billy Rose, 'Googley Eyes' Writer, Calls Presley's Songs Monstrosities

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (U)—Showman Billy Rose charged today that rock 'n' roll music and Elvis Presley's songs are "musical monstrosities" that have replaced Stephen Foster and Eddie Cantor with "a set of untalented twisters and twisters."

The pint-sized author of such old hits as "Barney Google" and "Gee-Go-Go-Googly Eyes" and "I Found a Million Dollars Baby in the Five and Ten-Cent Store" said he had to go to Moscow to hear the fine old melodies of George Gershwin, Irving Berlin and Cole Porter.

Rose publicly frowned on Presley's gyrating style at a congressional investigation of Tin Pan Alley and its relation to broadcasters.

A day late in his appearance, Rose testified with the confidence of a man who has made up to $60,000 a year in royalties from songs such as "That Old Gang

LONDON, Sept. 18—Secretary of State Dulles worked hard in London today to hold together the 18-nation group that had united in favor of international operation of the Suez Canal. The 18 endorsed a proposal to this end in a conference here in August.

This proposal having been rejected by President Nasser of Pilot problem solved, Egyptian boss of Canal says, Page 20.

Egypt, the 18 will be asked in a second conference beginning tomorrow to endorse Dulles' new plan for a canal "users' association." This, too, has been rejected by Egypt.

THREE AGREE

The leaders of Britain, France and the United States who had already accepted the plan agreed at talks here today that Dulles should propose it to the other 15 nations in the group. In these meetings Dulles discussed the question with Prime Minister Eden and the British and French foreign ministers, Selwyn Lloyd and Christian Pineau.

Meanwhile, representatives of the other nations began arriving, some indicating they were waiting to learn precisely what the "users' association" would be.

COLLECTIVE TEST

It has been defined as a collective test of the intentions of Nasser, to be made by offering to send ships through the canal with Egypt's permission, yet largely independent of the nationalized Egyptian canal system. The ships would carry their own pilots and pay tolls, not to Egypt, but into a "users' association" fund.

It appeared tonight that at least two of the 18 nations might drop out of the group. One was Pakistan. The other was Spain. Foreign Minister Alberto Martin Artajo said the Spanish government hoped to persuade the other nations to accept Egypt's recent invitation to another conference to discuss revision of the 1888 Convention providing free passage for all ships.

Italy has been reported to be restless under the two Dulles plans. West Germany, with large economic interests in the Middle and Far East, was understood to be worried by the prospect of prolonged tension over the canal. The Scandinavians apparently

PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE STEVENSON EYES THE WHITE HOUSE
Adlai Views Big Mural of the Home of Nation's Presidents

NAACP Would Bar Davis' Quiz

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People urged Democratic House leaders today to block a Southern Congressman from investigating school integration in the nation's capital.

Clarence Mitchell, NAACP Washington director, said there is "real danger" in the hearings planned by a House subcommittee headed by Rep. James C. Davis (D-Ga.).

"FORUM FOR STRIFE"

He expressed fear that the inquiry, scheduled to open tomorrow, will be used "as a forum to promote the kind of strife that has brought disgrace to Clay, Ky., and Mansfield and Texarkana, Tex."

Mitchell appealed to Speaker Sam Rayburn (Tex.) and House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack (Mass.) to "intervene to halt" the hearings.

He said Davis and Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss.), a subcommittee member, "have shown themselves totally lacking in the most elementary sense of fair play."

District schools, which previously had followed the Southern pattern of segregated classrooms, started an integration program shortly after the Supreme Court's decision that public school segregation is unconstitutional.

Kefauver Says Ike's Aides Broke Law on Dixon-Yates

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 18 (AP)—Sen. Kefauver said tonight Eisenhower administration officials, whom he did not name, had violated the law in what he called the "Dixon-Yates scandal."

He also said President Eisenhower had "repeatedly defended" the private power contract despite being put on notice of "a serious conflict of interests" and accused Atty. Gen. Brownell of "dereliction of duty" in handling the case.

The Democratic vice presidential candidate, in a prepared speech before a party rally here, charged the administration had sought to conceal from Congress and the public "the ugly truth about the Dixon-Yates deal."

The speech climaxed a day of campaigning in which he said Republican "myth men" are trying to keep Eisenhower disassociated

Adlai, 16 Real Joe Smiths Launch $7 Million Campaign for Party Cash

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson got together with Joe Smith—in person—today in the interest of raising seven million dollars for the Democratic campaign.

The presidential nominee appeared at a news conference with Joseph Edward Smith, former mayor of Oakland, Calif., to kick off two financial drives—a house-to-house canvass for donations Oct. 16 and a night of fund-raising dinners in big cities Oct. 20.

Oakland's Joe Smith was named honorary chairman of the Oct. 16 "Dollars-for-Democrats" day. Among the 15 local chairmen (all named Joe Smith) appointed to head area drives was Joe (James) W. Smith of Albany, Georgia.

The Democrats thus stepped up their already extensive use of the incident at the Republican National Convention when a delegate was ordered out for attempting to put the name of a mythical "Joe Smith" into nomination against Vice President Nixon.

Matthew McCloskey, Democratic National Committee treasurer, told today's news conference the party now has around $50,000 in its treasury. This would be only about 25 per cent of the cost of a single nationwide television broadcast. The cash-on-hand figure did not include, however, contributions already pledged or expected.

Nixon Rips Truman For Attacks on Ike

Pledges High-Level Campaign But Warns He Can Get Rough

By WILLIAM M. BLAIR

(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)
WHITTIER, Calif., Sept. 18—Vice President Nixon promised today to stick to presidential campaign unless

He gave the pledge on his first stop—in Indianapolis—as he set off as the principal Republican campaigner for a 15,000-mile, 32-state flying tour. And right after he gave it, he assailed former President Truman for making attacks on President Eisenhower.

At the same time, he dismissed as a campaign issue the Alger Hiss case. He said he was glad that Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, had made such a "forthright, direct statement" that he agreed with the jury verdict against Hiss and disagreed with Truman.

PROSPERITY AND PROGRESS

Nixon opened the big Republican push after a personal send-off from Eisenhower at an early-morning breakfast at Washington National Airport.

In Indianapolis and tonight in Whittier, he plugged the Republican theme of an Eisenhower peace, prosperity and progress. He cautioned Democrats that he is equal to the task of answering harsh words.

He told about 5,000 persons in Indianapolis' Monument Circle: "We have something far better to offer the American people than personal abuse of our opponents."

"But let's get one thing straight right now: 'Where our opponents misrepresent and distort the record and where they vilify the President of the United States I shall consider it a duty and a privilege to set the record straight.'"

REPLY TO STEVENSON

Thus he appeared to reply to yesterday's charge by Stevenson that Nixon and other Republican leaders already are "back and nothing but the truth, the assembled politicians look like so many lads in Sunday school, and when he moves through a crowd, as he did on the way to the vice president's plane, he is still the impressive commanding hero.

He didn't miss a political bet this morning. He took every opportunity to be seen and photographed with the vice president. He spotted and shook hands with some airplane workers and kitchen help at planeside. He spotted one 9-year-old and demanded to know why he wasn't in school. The startled boy said he was excused.

NOT ON THE ROAD
It was an intriguing spectacle and illustrates the central problem of the Republican campaign. This is that the popular President is staying home most of the time and leaving it to others to campaign.

On the road, there is little doubt that Eisenhower would still be able to work his magic, but he is not on the road. Accordingly, it was Nixon who carried most of the reporters away with him to Indiana and California today.

Tommies Stranded Far East of Suez

SINGAPORE, Sept. 18 (AP)—Britain's buildup of its bastion on Cyprus has left 10,000 British troops stranded here. There aren't enough troopships to take back the men who have completed their tour of duty. Army authorities are sending some back by freighter, some on foreign passenger ships, some by civilian airlines.

Crap-Shooters Roll as Judge Puts 'em on Dice

WINTER PARK, Fla., Sept. 18 (AP)—Dice rolled and pleas for "snake eyes" were sounded in the sanctity of Winter Park Municipal Court today.

Judge Daniel Lefevre allowed two men, who pleaded guilty to taking part in a crap game, to use their dice to determine their fines.

The judge told Joseph Washington, 41, and Hezekiah Paige, 25, their fines would be $10 plus whatever they rolled.

Washington rubbed the dice in his hands, called loudly for "snake eyes," rolled a seven and was fined $17.

Paige rolled a five and paid $15.

D. Eisenhower is a racketeer, legal or otherwise.

"Then—since he raised the issue—I can assure you that if our opponents wish to do so we will be glad to determine the results of this campaign by comparing the moral standards of the Eisenhower administration with the moral standards of the Truman administration; any time of the day or night."

"I can assure you that in this administration neither corruption nor dishonesty will be condoned by the President of the United States."

Eisenhower, he added, "cleaned up the mess he found, has not allowed another one to be made, and will continue to maintain standards that will make every American proud of his government in Washington."

Called Troops To Keep Order Only, Clement Says

By BRUCE GALPHIN

Law and order, not segregation, was the basic problem at Clinton, Tennessee's Gov. Clement declared here Tuesday.

Speaking before the Southern Bakers Assn. at the Biltmore Hotel, Clement delivered a strongly worded defense of his decision to send troops to maintain order at the Clinton school.

That decision, he said, was "the most frightening" he ever faced.

Clinton "was a quiet town" until "outside agitators" stirred up trouble, Clement said. He said he had refused to send in the National Guard until "law and order broke down."

"It wasn't there to force integration with bayonets. It was not there to preserve segregation with troops."

"Most of the troops I sent up there were in favor of segregation," the governor continued. "But they defended the law. We didn't shed a single drop of blood."

When Clement declared, "I can't allow anyone to take the law into his own hands," the audience of several hundred interrupted with sustained applause.

Clement obviously was emotionally moved. He said it was easy enough for the audience to praise a decision they agreed with. "But what if it wasn't something you liked?" he queried, emphasizing with thrusts of his finger. "What if it affected your own home? Would you stand with law and order then?"

The Tennesseean's talk before the bakers was billed as a non-partisan address on politics. Early in his speech he stressed the value of strong public interest in politics and an international outlook on the part of Americans.

RECIPE FOR GOOD TIME—Children, cotton candy and a carousel are ingredients for a happy afternoon at the DeKalb County Festival. Here Cricket, 4, and Walter Nix, 5, of 3436 Flat Shoals Rd., Decatur, are living it up at the Panthersville Fair Grounds. Mrs. Guy Hudson, secretary of the Decatur-DeKalb Chamber of Commerce, said Tuesday's crowd was one of the largest in the fair's history. A highlight Wednesday will be the presentation of a calf to the county's outstanding 4-H boy.

Little Johnny, 5, Seems Doomed

Little Johnny Pair, 5, appears to be doomed to die.

Mrs. Bessie Pair, Johnny's mother, of 83 Hunter St., SE, said her ex-husband, Arnold, had given her a final and unequivocal "no" to prospects of an operation to remove a cancerous eye.

But Pair told a reporter Tuesday he was "giving it a great deal of thinking and still might change my mind."

HAS LEGAL CUSTODY

Mrs. Pair quoted him as telling her, "My answer is no, and I don't want to talk to anyone else about it."

Mrs. Pair, who favors the operation, has legal custody of Johnny, but she said doctors on the case insist on his father's approval before they will operate.

One of the doctors who has worked with Johnny for two years, said he didn't know of a doctor who would be willing to perform such an operation without the agreement of both parents.

50-50 CHANCE

The doctors say Johnny will die unless the operation is performed soon. And they say he may die anyway.

"They told me Johnny has a 50-chance to live if they operate," Pair said. "Whether they operate or not, it's up to the good Lord how long he will live."

Pair said that since it may be too late to stop the spread of the cancer, which necessitated removal of Johnny's other eye two years ago, it might be better to allow Johnny to keep his sight as long as possible.

A spokesman for a local medical society said Tuesday that a doctor's decision to operate, under the circumstances, would not involve ethics.

"It is a philosophical question a doctor would have to decide for himself," the spokesman said. "The decision is really the responsibility of the parents, and it puts the doctor in a spot if one of the parents opposes the operation and the other—even though one has legal custody—favors it."

"If the doctor operated and the child died, you can understand how one would feel under such a situation. An operation of that kind carries a terrific responsibility for the doctor anyway. It makes the responsibility almost unbearable when one parent opposes the operation."

Mrs. Pair said she will continue to try and persuade Johnny's father to agree to the operation.

She said she would "stay with Johnny as much as possible, make him as happy as I can, and depend on the Lord for guidance and help."

Almost any story, even the most daring, can be brought to the screen with honesty and good taste.

M-G-M has filmed the famed stage sensation "Tea and Sympathy," about a young student and the housemaster's wife who knew he was more of a man than any of those who called him "Sister Boy"...even before she helped him prove it!

Deborah Kerr, John Kerr and Leif Erickson play the roles they created on Broadway. And the greater fluidity of the screen medium has enabled them to attain an even more powerful crescendo as each of these intimately interlocked characters moves toward the most talked-about dramatic climax of our day. Those who said Robert Anderson's astounding play couldn't—even shouldn't—be filmed will probably be the first to cheer the stars' delicate yet passionate portrayals.

"Years from now," Laura was saying softly, "when you talk about this—and you will—be kind..."

Everybody knows a Tom Lee, but not every Tom Lee is lucky enough to know a Laura Reynolds. Shining with the radiance of Miss Kerr, she is a woman quick to sense the sensitivities of others, one who will find it difficult to adhere to the other faculty wives' advice: "Don't get emotionally involved with the boys' problems; all you need give them is a little tea and sympathy."

At first Laura is amused and touched by Tom's puppy-love for her. But what is Laura to do when her attempts to escape his dependence on her are interpreted by Tom as betrayal? Does she do right? Every viewer must decide this in the solitude of his own heart.

Producer Pandro S. Berman and director Vincente Minnelli capture every rapture, every stinging and compassionate observation in the best imaginable taste. Now filmed in CinemaScope and Metrocolor, Anderson's script faithfully preserves, and often enhances, every sudden turn and turning-point of his own long-run play.

And M-G-M has made certain that the electric tingle that ran down Broadway on opening night now runs down your spine when you see "Tea and Sympathy!"

STILL GROWING

A Million Atlantans by '61 Forecast

A million population in Atlanta by 1961 and a million-and-a-half population in 20 years was foreseen here Tuesday by Ben S. Gilmer, vice president-operations, Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Addressing a meeting of the Atlanta chapter of the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Assn. at Ft. McPherson, Gilmer said:

"Judging by past experiences, this forecast may prove to be too low. Four years ago the planning agencies in the area were basing their plans on a million population by 1970, a figure now expected to be reached nine years earlier."

"The Atlanta area seems in a particularly advantageous position to attract more than an average share of the nation's large population growth."

In this connection, he outlined advantages such as virtually unlimited land space in all directions available for expansion, the city's climatic attraction, its geographical location and its "sheer momentum of growth."

He said this year his company will open an exchange in the southeastern section costing $1,300,000 and another next year in the northwestern section costing $800,000 just for building and equipment.

He also said plans are underway for two more exchanges in southwest Fulton County and the eastern part of DeKalb County.

Expressway Delays Get Needed Airing

The conference of city, county and state officials yesterday on problems of building Atlanta's expressway system confirmed the charges that there have been unnecessary delays and a great deal of buck passing.

But perhaps the most significant things are that the meeting was held, that it was public and that no attempts were made to shift all the blame in any one direction. Causes for the delays were aired and the various departments and governments concerned were brought into a discussion of how they can be alleviated.

In addition, Highway Board Chairman Roger Lawson, who called the conference, said he would like to see a series of such meetings. He indicated a wish that all difficulties in the future be aired publicly and that progress be reviewed periodically.

Mr. Lawson's approach is refreshingly forthright and heartening to frustrated Atlantans who have watched the snail's pace of expressway progress and who have heard excuses and accusations from all sides as to the reasons. By bringing it all into the open and giving the officials responsible a chance to get together on the over-all problem, he has performed a real public service.

Completion of the expressway system is as important to Georgia as any single stretch of road work in the state. From the state government's standpoint, too, the vast population of the metropolitan area is entitled to full consideration. And surely there can be no valid excuse for city and county officials to lag.

Let us hope that Chairman Lawson has initiated a precedent which will be followed in all future expressway wrangles. Let us also hope that the advice given by Robert L. MacDougall, chairman of the technical committee of the Joint Board Commission, that it's time to look forward instead of backward, is followed.

Money is available now for the full speed signal in the expressway program. The signal promptly should be given.

Let's Purge the List Of Marrying Justices

Marriage mills on Georgia's borders, and in particular on the Florida border, continue to give the state a bad name.

A Jacksonville juvenile court judge has announced that he will protest to Gov. Marvin Griffin the marriage of a 12-year-old girl to a 39-year-old man in Kingsland last month.

Kingsland, in Camden County, has the dubious honor of being one of the state's most famous Gretna Greens. It is in particular favor with Floridians who find it possible to marry with less forethought in Georgia than in their native state.

Marriage is a personal thing and it is presumptuous to question the motives of the parties involved.

However, officials with the power to marry people certainly should have enough discretion to distinguish between a routine ceremony and one that is an offense to the decent minded.

The Florida judge accused some fee collecting Georgians of being willing to "marry anyone, regardless of age."

Regretfully and apologetically, we are forced to concur.

The Race for Sheriff Brought Needed Light

In the future, special deputies in the Fulton County sheriff's office will be men without police records.

The reform is a result of the recent primary when Sheriff T. Ralph Grimes' right to continue in office was attacked via his controversial list of special deputies. This group, deputized by the sheriff, includes such useful citizens as nightwatchmen who need some authority, but also included some thugs and unworthy citizens who like to play cop.

Now, according to the sheriff's office, those who want these privileges will be screened carefully with an understanding that a police record means no badge.

Mr. Grimes' office also indicated that the bad ones on the special deputy list were inherited from a former sheriff and that the incumbent began lifting their badges prior to the election charges.

Be that as it may, the fact that Sheriff Grimes had opposition this year brought the apparently lackadaisical conduct of the sheriff's office into the open. All good citizens, therefore, are that much in debt to Alderman Wayne Blanchard, the defeated candidate.

The lax way in which Atlantans and residents of unincorporated areas of the county are allowed to pack guns around is a matter of serious concern to those who value the peace of the community and their lives.

It's good to see the sheriff's office cleaning up the deputy list. It would be more than good to see a general crack-down on all other self-appointed vigilantes.

Among other questions raised by the sheriff's race is this:

Is the sheriff's office really necessary in an urban county like Fulton? Here is something an investigating committee might look into, granted that it has the taxpayers' interest at heart.

GOP Shouldn't Carry Ike's Advice Too Far!

President Eisenhower yesterday helped launch Vice President Nixon's campaign tour by advising him and other Republican leaders to go to the people with the "truth" during the 1956 election drive.

What strange advice to give Richard Nixon, whose 1954 congressional campaign tactics set a new low in smears and who insulted every Democrat in Congress and the country! Perhaps the fact that the voters repudiated those tactics has something to do with this sudden interest in the "truth."

If Len Hall's "truth squad" wanted to carry out the order to the fullest, it really could enlighten the country.

It could reveal, for instance, how Hall and the other GOP leaders rammed Nixon's nomination through the convention and made him prospective heir to the throne even though all indications showed him to be unacceptable to the American people.

It could talk about Secretary Dulles' blunders which now leave no alternative to war in the Middle East except massive appeasement.

But over and over it could repeat the "truth" that the GOP leadership which gives lip service to Ike in this election year bitterly fought his policies during recent congressional sessions. They like Ike now, but what about next year when he can no longer further their political ambitions?

Perhaps we will be enlightened, too, about Dixon-Yates, Murray Chotiner, Ezra Benson's war on the farm economy and a host of other subjects which could stand the light of truth.

The country will welcome a "campaign of truth" but it reserves the right to determine when it ceases to be that and becomes one of fiction.

12th Symphony Season Will Be the Best Yet

Symphony Week in Atlanta reminds the community that the twelfth season of its splendid symphony orchestra promises to be one of its finest.

Opening Sept. 16, the subscription series of 11 concerts—with nationally known guest stars—again is outstanding. Season tickets for the 11 performances range in price from $7.25 to $17.50. The mere fact that such fine music can be kept within the reach of everybody is a splendid tribute to those who have made it possible through supporting the orchestra through the years.

In addition to the subscription series, there will be many other performances in Atlanta and in other Georgia cities. Director Henry Sopkin will lead the orchestra in 50 concerts in all, including the young people's series and the Sunday afternoon family concerts.

The symphony is a community enterprise in which Atlanta takes just pride. It is rated among the 25 such organizations in the country and has brought pleasure to thousands.

The community, of course, will continue to justify the efforts of all who have worked to make the symphony a success. The 1956-'57 season should be the best yet.

Joseph Arnall Served Community and State

All Georgians will join in sympathy with former Gov. Ellis Arnall and his family in the loss of the governor's father, Joseph Gibbs Arnall, 74, who died at his home in Newnan after a long illness.

Mr. Arnall was one of the most useful citizens of his city, county and community. An active and successful businessman, he balanced this busy life with a full measure of service in civic and public affairs. He served on the board of aldermen of his city and was for some time chairman of the Coweta County board of commissioners. He was active in his church and in support of public education.

It was his and his wife's interest in such matters which inspired their son to an interest in public affairs. He was, on the record, one of the most progressive and successful governors the state has had. His father was one who contributed to this success.

Voting Council Expresses Its Gratification Over Large Turnout of Voters in Primary

Atlanta—Thanks for the splendid cooperation which we received from The Constitution in connection with our "Get Out the Vote" activities just completed and particularly for the fine coverage and publicity afforded us by Richard Ashworth and the other members of our staff.

We were amazed and pleased at the unprecedented turnout of voters in the primary election, exceeding by far the most optimistic predictions.

The total vote in Fulton County alone was approximately 83,000 whereas the consensus of opinion was that the vote would not exceed 60,000 and more likely would be in the neighborhood of 50,000. Incidentally, the Fulton County vote set a new record high for a primary in this county.

We hope that we have contributed in a small way to this remarkable demonstration of the vitality of our democratic processes.

The cooperation which we received from the press, radio and television, as well as from management, labor and the general public was heartwarming and gratifying and indicates what can be accomplished by concerted action of our citizenry.

SIDNEY HASKIN, Chairman, Metropolitan Voting Council.

Poke Weed Removed From Her Property

Stone Mountain—In regard to the letter by Walter S. Forrester concerning poke berries, I would like to quote from Webster's new dictionary.

It defines poke berry as "the reddish-purple berry on the poke weed containing poisonous berries."

It defines the poke weed as "any of several North American weeds with clusters of purplish-white flowers, reddish-purple stems; the roots and berry seeds are poisonous."

It was my children who ate the poke berries thinking they were blackberries, which they loved.

If necessary I would rush them to the hospital for emergency treatment again.

I removed the poke weed from the property to keep the danger out of sight.

He Scores Hypocrites Within Church Ranks

Atlanta—Since the best folks are supposed to be in the church, I believe integration should have started in the church, then we could find out how many real Christians are in the church and how many acting Christians are in the church. For no God-made minister can refuse to accept a sinner for baptism or a Christian in fellowship.

God is no respecter of persons. The world will be a better place to live when all false pretending is put aside and real Christian fellowship is exercised first in the home for out of the home comes those baptized believers who make up the church.

REV. MARION BILLUPS.

He Urges Southerners To Keep Ike in Office

Atlanta—Much has been said about the civil rights planks of the two major parties. Studying them we find they are almost identical.

But the Democratic Party has slipped a deadly proposal into its platform which the Republican platform does not have and about which little, to date, has been heard.

The Democratic Party urges that the Senate filibuster rule be done away with.

If enough voters in the South were independent enough to repudiate the Democratic Party and its shameful proposal in the November general election and our section voted solidly to continue the present Republican administration in office (as the lesser of two evils)

Few Citizens Are Concerned About Real Causes of Crime

We sometimes hear remonstrances against the chronic complainers here at Reidsville. But there is nothing wrong with being a complainer. When society institutes a reform, the movement which brought about that reform can usually be found to have originated in the complaints and agitations of malcontents who complained so loudly and so long that after a while complacent persons began to listen to them.

Somebody has to be dissatisfied and critical before things can be improved and sometimes the most destructive criticisms turn out eventually to be the most constructive.

The trouble with most complaints against unfortunate conditions in states, their institutions and local communities is that they fail to get beneath the surface. We cannot get rid of our troubles by changing horses in mid-stream, because the available horses are all very much alike.

That's as bad as trying to cure headaches with aspirin. The pain may be relieved temporarily but it will be back tomorrow for the aspirin does not remove the cause.

What are the causes of our acute social ills—juvenile delinquency, political corruption, incompetently administered institutions, etc.?

They are the old and familiar inadequacies in the things that fill our most basic needs—economic home, the church and the school; and when a scandal breaks into the headlines we demand somebody's hide. That is all.

while electing Democratic representatives and local officials, it could prove to be the healthiest thing politically our Southland ever did.

In 1960 we very probably could have a choice of good proposals.

Elvis Should See the Barber

Only he who has the facts is entitled to an opinion. I have no right to a Presley appraisal. I have never seen or heard the Memphis moaner in person or on the air. Don't ask me how I have escaped. Just lucky I guess.

Ed Middleton, who covers the McCall'sville-Copper Hill area for the Copper City Advance, has seen E. P. I like the Middleton reaction. Says Ed, "We watched the young man carefully; listened to what he said; observed that portion of his mannerisms which the camera man did not censor. Our considered judgment of Presley is that he needs a haircut."

On the other hand, Evalyna Keadle, writing "Teen Talk" for the Camilla Enterprise, says, "In this Elvis Presley age, nothing else has much of a chance. If you turn on the radio 'Hound Dog' is almost sure to sound off in your ear. 'Blue Suede Shoes' died down only for 'Don't Be Cruel' to take over. Many of the older generation really don't dig this music, but honestly we (she's speaking for her generation) can't translate the Charleston."

Toochay, Evalyna, as they say on TV.

But there's hope. Your generation seems to dig the sentimental "Tonight You Belong to Me." We dug it away back yonder, then buried it. Now they've gone and dug it up again.

SHORT SUBJECTS: The Gordon PTA is in business—running a skating rink in the high school gym which became vacant when the Wilkinson high schools merged into one, the new Wilco' High at Twintown. . . . State Highway Patrolmen in North Carolina are giving drivers sniff tests to see if they are under the influence.

Julian Scheer, the Charlotte News columnist, says there's nothing new about the tests, wives have been using them for years. . . . The carpet sweeper was patented 80 years ago today, not by Hoover, but by Melville R. Bissell of Grand Rapids, Mich.

JEST FOR TODAY: Husband to wife, "I have just had my life insured for $50,000."

Wife to husband, "That's nice. Now I won't have to keep telling you to be careful every place you go."

Taxes, Tuition Make Parents Turn Grey

Like many another father I am now in the iron grasp of the money lenders, thrust into that unhappy state by those twin terrors, taxes and tuition. I guess there are plenty of farsighted families who set their sights on September early and, like the thrifty squirrel, lay up the hoardings that will see them through that somber time.

They know that along about the time the dogwood leaves begin to redden Uncle Sam will be putting his hand out saying "Gimme," and the nice polite notes will be coming in from the college bursars, listing tuition and board and room and laundry and books and all sorts of special fees, all adding up to about as much as it used to cost back in depression days for four whole years at college.

But there seems to be a lot of grasshopper blood in me and my folks for somehow we just can't seem to lay enough away. So what to do? You can't pay the college and tell Uncle Sam to wait for he does not like for citizens to dally when it is time to pay taxes and is inclined to discourage such dilatory habits by levying heavy penalties upon them.

And you don't pay Uncle Sam and ask the college to wait for they have got a lot of hungry professors to feed and they can't wait either.

So you scrape the barrel clean of all that's there, which is not enough, and you go down to the bank, hat in hand, to borrow the rest. And the banker gives you the happy news that he'll have to charge more interest than he's been charging, for this deters people from borrowing unwisely and spending lavishly and thus contributing to inflation.

So you sign the notes and get the money and send it on, which leaves you flat again and contributes greatly to your deflation, both spiritually and financially.

And a thought strikes you that probably has no merit but it makes sense to you. Somebody is always screaming about the schools and how poorly the teachers are paid and how crowded the classrooms are and how we've got to support our educational system better. All of which is no doubt true. And there is one way to cure it overnight.

That way is simply this: Let everybody who has to send a youngster to school deduct from his income tax the amount he spends on his kids' schooling all the way up the line from the kindergarten to college.

That way the schools wouldn't need the federal help they are always crying for and Uncle Sam wouldn't need so many dollars to help the schools. And maybe folks like me could stay out of the clutches of the money lenders when September rolls around.

It wouldn't be fair to bachelors, of course, or couples who have no children but if they could take it off their income tax they'd probably be willing to educate a nephew or two, or maybe even the kid down the street.

Charles L. Allen

Be Patient; No Clock Ticks Away Eternity

Once some engineers were faced with the problem of lifting some very heavy parts of a bridge which crossed over a bay of the ocean. There were no cranes large enough to lift that load. But they lashed large pontoons under the bridge. Then they waited. Slowly the tide came in with its tremendous power. Bit by bit the bridge was lifted. The tide represented not only the power of the ocean, but also of the moon and the sun and the other planets of the universe.

And there is nothing too heavy for the power of the universe to lift. So it is with the burdens of life. At times we are helpless but there is a power greater than man can imagine, the very power of the universe which will work on behalf of man. Learn to "wait for the tide."

The Bible teaches the principle of "waiting for the tide," again and again. For example, a low-tide experience is when we become discouraged. All persons are subject to both elevated and depressed moods.

And when discouragement does come, and come it will, remember these words: "Wait on the Lord: Be of good courage, and He shall strengthen thine heart; Wait, I say, on the Lord" (Psalm 27:14).

Or these words: "Why art thou cast down, O my soul? . . . Hope thou in God" (Psalm 42:11). Wait for the tide which God shall bring in.

Sometimes we get nervously overwrought. We want control, calmness and peace but there seems to be nothing we can do. In such times we need to learn to "wait for the tide." To help in such "low-tide" times, remember these words from the Bible: "Rest in the Lord, and wait patiently for him" (Psalm 37:7). That verse tells us to be still and rest, but when in a nervous, depressed state that is difficult.

The Psalmist knew that so he said, "Rest in the Lord." Picture in your mind the greatness and goodness of God. Say to yourself, "My times are in His hands." And you gain serenity and quietness. Think of the mighty tides of the ocean and learn to "wait for the tide."

Sometimes the burdens of sorrow are so heavy we cannot bear them.

Listen to these words from the Bible: "For His anger endureth but a moment; in His favor is life: Weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning" (Psalm 30:5). Your agony is not permanent. Though a dark night seems to be settling down upon you, the morning will come. So you carry on through your sorrow knowing it will bring you to the brightness of a new day.

Adlai To Command His Own Campaign

WASHINGTON—Impressive about Adlai Stevenson as he gets set to start out this weekend on a very grueling campaign for the presidency is his confidence, his earnestness, his sense of responsibility and his clear determination to keep command at all times and to run his own campaign.

This stood out as he underwent one of those ordeals that politicians must endure—the mass news conference, with no holds barred.

It was his first such experience in this campaign since his nomination and in the usual fashion was held in a ballroom of the hotel at which he is staying. There he faced row after row of newspaper and radio correspondents, some of them almost entangled in the wires so lavishly coiling about the room to serve the battery of television cameras in the background.

He took the whole affair most seriously. In apologizing for being late—he was 24 minutes behind schedule—he explained that he had tried to anticipate what questions might be asked and had been boning up on his replies.

As a matter of fact, on two of them—the Suez Canal crisis and the Republican revival of the Alger Hiss case—he was ready with formal statements which he pulled out, smiling, with "I thought you'd ask me that" when these matters were brought up.

Mostly he was very serious, almost grim, throughout the session, careful in his selection of words to express exact meaning, even more than customary.

The whole performance seemed to affirm the confidence now found rising among Democrats wherever you meet them. It was as if he feels so hopeful about his prospects that he wanted to be very sure he made no bobbles. One sign to Democrats of Republican anxiety and nervousness about the forthcoming election is the attempt by the Republicans again to dig up the Communist issue. They finally found an excuse to do this in former President Truman's remark a few days ago that he did not think Alger Hiss was a spy.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon literally grabbed this, saying now that Truman had raised the Alger Hiss issue, it was up to Stevenson to speak up, too. National Republican Chairman Hall took up the cue and has been issuing challenges to the Democratic presidential candidate daily.

It looked to Republicans like the perfect trick, for it not only carried out their aim to throw Truman constantly at Stevenson, but also admitted the Communist issue by a side door.

Stevenson was ready for this at his news conference. As for himself and the Hiss affair, he merely pointed out that back in the 1952 campaign in a speech in Cleveland, he had said that he accepted the verdict of the jury which convicted Hiss, which is still his position, and if this is not in accord with Truman's view, then that is just the way it is.

In this and other ways, the Democratic candidate made it plain that he intends to run his own campaign without regard to former President Truman who, however, has said he will fill many speaking engagements in arrangement with the Democratic National Committee.

FOILS HOLDUP Boy Kills Kidnapers Of Parents

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Sept. 18 (AP)—A 14-year-old American boy today outwitted and shot to death a German who kidnapped him and his family and threatened to shoot his mother in a bank robbery plot.

Robert Kuhel fired two bullets from a .22-caliber target pistol into the head of Hugo Walgenbach, who was pointing a .45-caliber automatic at the youth's mother in the Kuhel family car.

Walgenbach had abducted Robert and his parents in an attempt to force the boy's father, John W. Kuhel, to get him $71,500 from the Heidelberg branch of the Chase National Bank, New York. Kuhel manages the branch.

U. S. Army authorities announced details of the attempted robbery but German police disclosed later that the Kuhels had gone into hiding under Army protection to escape possible gangland vengeance for the death of Walgenbach.

U. S. Army authorities said Walgenbach forced his way into the Kuhel home this morning and held Kuhel, his wife and Robert at gunpoint.

Robert excused himself to go to the bathroom and managed to hide his father's target pistol in his pocket.

FORCED INTO CAR

Walgenbach, 58, forced the Kuhels into their car — Kuhel in the driver's seat with his wife beside him and Robert in back with the German.

He told Kuhel he would hold his wife and son hostage while the bank manager got the money.

En route to the bank, Kuhel spotted a U. S. military police vehicle approaching in the opposite direction and another coming up behind.

Kuhel swerved his car over the sidewalk and braked to a stop. The soldiers stopped their vehicles and approached with drawn guns.

Walgenbach lifted his .45, aimed it at Mrs. Kuhel and said to her husband, "Get going or I'll shoot."

Robert drew his concealed pistol and shot Walgenbach twice in the head.

The gunman's body rolled out the door.

Gov. Stanley Wins Anew on Segregation

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 18 (AP)—Gov. Thomas B. Stanley's anti-integration state fund cutoff plan won 61 to 37 approval in the state House today and appeared headed for a hard-fought repeat performance in the Senate.

Passage of the key measure, stripped of a local option escape clause nailed on by opponents in committee, gave the administration an opportunity to take the offensive and press for adoption of the bill and a couple of major companion measures in the Senate later this week.

But those steering the governor's program in the Senate did not move to get the earliest possible showdown.

Instead they decided on a strategy of waiting until the two other major parts of the segregation package come over from the House. These measures, which will be debated in the House tomorrow, would (1) give the governor responsibility for assignment of all pupils and provide for state court appeals from his decisions, and (2) permit localities in which schools might be closed because of integration to have the Assembly, with the governor as administrative agent, take over the schools and operate them on a segregated basis under the state's police power.

The House vote on withholding was anti-climactic after last night's major test of strength on the amendment. The administration won by 59 to 39. The amendment, which the governor's supporters argued would nullify the policy statement of "no state money for integrated schools anywhere," would have permitted localities to vote themselves out and operate under an assignment plan.

Final House passage came without debate.

Duped of Brink's Share by Cronies, Specs Says

By LEONARD P. GIBLIN

BOSTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—The prosecution's star witness, Joseph J. McGinnis, 52, described by the prosecution as the "brains" of the robbery, a suitcase containing $100,000, but when he regained possession, it contained only $38,000.

O'Keefe is not on trial, having previously pleaded guilty, but eight of the 11 originally indicted are defendants in the Suffolk Superior Court trial. Two others are dead.

After giving the all-male jury a step-by-step story of the actual perpetration of the world's largest cash robbery, O'Keefe related the following tale of duplicity among his alleged accomplices:

Men Took Off Shoes To Get in Pistol Legs

By MARJORY SMITH

CLANTON G. ANCHORS used to kid his wife about constantly changing female fashions. Not anymore, though.

1923 "Pistol Britches"

ANCHORS, U. S. District Court clerk who lives at 1077 Juniper St., NE, was silenced by a 1923 snapshot which came to light at his house recently.

Get a load of the "pistol britches" in which Anchors, right, and Roy Guest, a friend who was to become Anchors' brother-in-law, are attired.

The picture was made on McLendon Ave., NE, near Candler Park. The Atlantans were about 20, on their way to see their best girls, and dressed in height of masculine fashion of the day.

"I never thought about men's clothes changing in style," Anchors grins today. "But after we unearthed this old snapshot, folks who saw it kept asking if I didn't have on a riding habit. And I do seem to remember that I couldn't put my pants on over my shoes back then!"

The onetime pistol britches-wearer wonders if other Atlanta men can remember articles of clothing which have changed for the better or worse.

RECENT SURVEYS, reports Lockheed's Southern Star, show that four out of five women-haters are women.

FULTON COUNTY property-owner recently came down to the courthouse to protest reappraisal of value of his home. The appraiser had included an elaborate, glass-jailed porch. The homeowner declared it shouldn't be included because "I don't use it all the time." He had to admit fairness of the appraisal, however, when the tax expert countered, "The same reasoning could be applied to your bathroom."

SOME BOTANIST, perhaps, knows why elephant ears thrive in Atlanta soil. We don't—but green thumb gardeners keep calling in about their phenomenal plants. Latest is Mrs. A. H. Miller of 3347 Meadow Lane Pl., SW, who reports hers measure "a yard and 11 inches from tip to tip and 34 inches across. This is the 'biggest year yet,'" she adds. Her elephant ears were sizable when she was growing them in a former east Atlanta residence. Then the Millers moved to their current address and the transplanted foliage has been growing out of all previous bounds. Another Atlanta gardener who amazes the neighbors is Mrs. John D. Smith Jr. of 487 Central Ave., SW, whose tomato plants this year grew six and seven feet tall.

Methodists To Examine Parish Needs

Constitution State News Service ST. SIMONS, Sept. 18—Every one of the nearly 900 Methodist churches in the state will participate in a program designed to lift the level of its services, according to a plan outlined at the Methodist Area Planning Conference here Tuesday.

Methodists numbering 170 from over the state laid the groundwork for an intensive study of each church on the local level as the conference entered its second day at the denomination's Epworth-by-the-Sea assembly grounds.

The local church emphasis program was spearheaded by the Council of Bishops following the General Conference of the denomination in Minneapolis last May.

The other major emphasis planned for the next quadrennium or four-year period is on Christian higher education. The Georgia planning conference will lay plans for a $2 million campaign to strengthen and expand six Methodist colleges in the state at the Wednesday morning session.

Bishop Arthur J. Moore is presiding at the conference which opened Monday and will continue through Thursday.

Hunter's Bullet Blamed For Atlantan's Wound

An Atlantan was wounded Tuesday by a stray bullet believed to have been fired by a hunter, police said.

The victim, J. Homer Hammond, 38, of 657 Hill Pine Dr., NE, employee of a paving company, was wounded in the right arm. He was treated at Crawford W. Long Hospital.

Hammond said he parked his car on Otley drive, NE, where a paving job was under way. As he got out of the car, Hammond said, he felt a stinging sensation in the right arm, but heard no shot. Detectives M. W. Blackwell and H. E. Burdett said the bullet appeared to have been fired in a wooded area nearby by a hunter.

Priest To Take LaGrange Post

An Atlanta priest will assume his new duties as pastor of the St. Peter's Catholic Church in LaGrange Wednesday.

He is the Rev. John F. McDonough who has served as assistant pastor of the Cathedral of Christ the King here for the past 10 years.

A native of Boston, Father McDonough was ordained in 1941. He served two years in Ipswich, Mass. and then entered the U. S. Army in 1944. Following his discharge in 1946, he came to the Atlanta church.

Wreckers Play Impromptu Duet Here—a Smash

A wrecker towing a wreck Tuesday was rammed by a wrecker and wreckers were called for all three vehicles, police said.

The crash occurred in the 1400 block of Sylvan road, SW. Pil. F. L. Russell said James Edmund Wynn, 19, of 1454 Fairbanks St., SW, driver of one of the wreckers, was treated at Grady Hospital for a possible fracture of the neck.

Russell said Wynn was driving a wrecker towing a junked auto. William M. Martin, 41, of 311 Furman Ave., East Point, an employee of the same company, was following in another wrecker.

A child darted into the street in front of Wynn's vehicle. Russell said, but Wynn succeeded in stopping before hitting the child. However, Martin's vehicle plowed into the wrecked auto attached to the rear of Wynn's wrecker.

Martin was booked on charges of following too close and accident, Russell said.

Charge of Politics on Bids Labeled 'Absurd' by General

A charge of "politics" in connection with the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers' recent rejection of all bids for lease of a Lake Lanier recreation site was branded "absurd and ridiculous" here Tuesday.

Brig. Gen. Henry J. Hoefler, chief engineer of the corps' South Atlantic Division and one of four defendants named in a federal court suit filed here Monday by J. W. Beachem, an Atlanta investment firm executive—termed the charges "so absurd and ridiculous as to not merit the dignity of a denial."

Beachem charges in his suit that the defendants "for political reasons" deliberately and intentionally rejected his "high" bid for the lease of the 22.6-acre Big Creek Site near Buford. Also listed as defendants in the suit were Col. Harold E. Bisholt, resident Mobile, Ala., engineer, and Lt. Gen. Samuel D. Sturgis, chief engineer of the corps.

Gen. Hoefler termed the corps' action in rejecting Beachem's bid and six other bids as "the only possible action which could guarantee the best interests of the government, the taxpayers and all potential bidders."

The general pointed out that the bid invitations contained the "unequivocal statement that the right is reserved, as the interests of the government may require, to reject any and all bids."

Massachusetts Democrats Pick Furcolo for Governor

BOSTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Massachusetts Democrats today nominated former Congressman Foster Furcolo to run for governor this fall.

'Lottery War' Suspect Hall Ruled Insane

Convicted liquor-runner Roy Hall, who faces trial on a series of charges growing out of a "lottery war" here this year, was judged insane Tuesday by a Fulton Superior Court jury.

The jury heard evidence that Hall previously had been committed to the State Hospital at Mill-edgeville and had been released. Several psychiatrists testified Hall was not mentally competent. Under the jury verdict, Hall will be sent to the hospital to be held until he is deemed to be in condition to return to society. He still will have to face the charges on which he originally faced trial.

Hall was one of three persons indicted in connection with the "lottery war" here Feb. 11 in which Hall was shot in the left hand. He is under indictment on charges of lottery, two counts of assault with intent to murder, one each of shooting at another, robbery and illegally carrying a pistol.

Former State Rep. Robert F. Murphy of Malden was nominated for lieutenant governor.

They ran on the same team two years ago, Furcolo for U.S. senator and Murphy for governor, but both were defeated.

Among the congressional contests, Rep. Thomas J. Lane (D-Mass) was running ahead in a field of five candidates in the first few reporting precincts in the 7th Dist. Lane was released recently after serving a four-month federal sentence for income tax evasion.

This was the last of the nation's two-party primaries this election year. Rhode Island has a Democratic primary Sept. 26.

Furcolo was an easy winner over Thomas H. Buckley of Abington, on-time state auditor who retired as state commissioner of administration in 1953.

Murphy outpaced former State Rep. James A. Burke — the nominee for lieutenant governor two years ago — and Executive Council George A. Wells of Worcester.

The tabulation of 1,031 of 1,949 precincts gave:

Governor: Furcolo 172,106; Buckley 52,755.

Lieutenant governor: Murphy 111,625; Burke 49,576; Wells 37,420.

The count of 953 precincts gave:

Treasurer: John F. Kennedy 70,254; Clement A. Riley 51,086.

Attorney general: Edward J. McCormack 97,563; State Rep. Joseph D. Ward 77,650.

Forest Park Amends Bill On Sewerage

An embattled Forest Park city council Tuesday night amended a portion of its sewerage ordinance but took no action on requests that sewerage assessments be made on a flat rate rather than a percentage of the water bill.

An overflow crowd heard the ordinance amended to the effect that where existing septic tanks meet health and sanitation requirements, property owners will pay the assessment but not be forced to tie into the new city system.

However, in the event these facilities are condemned at a later date, the property owner can be forced to hook up or face a $500 fine or 90 days in jail, the amendment read.

The original ordinance would have required all residential property within 200 feet of the line to be hooked up by Oct. 6 or when the October water bill was received under the same penalty.

Spokesmen also asked the council to assess a flat fixed rate for the sewerage assessment instead of the existing 70 per cent of the water bill. No action was taken.

The women's dormitories will not be ready for occupancy until Sunday, she explained.

Fulton Tax Post Goes to Thompson

Appointment of Standish Thompson, credited with successfully reorganizing the joint Atlanta and Fulton County tax office, as county tax commissioner effective Jan. 1, 1957, was approved Tuesday by the Fulton grand jury.

Thompson, who is now chief deputy tax commissioner, will succeed T. E. Suttles, who will retire this year at the end of his present term. Suttles, 71, has approximately 50 years service with the county and has been tax commissioner since 1935.

The tax commissioner until recently was elected for four-year terms by the people. Under present law, he is appointed by County Manager A. E. Fuller with approval of a majority vote of the grand jury for a four-year term.

A native of East Point, Thompson was brought into the joint tax office in 1953 as assistant tax commissioner "at a time when confusion was in evidence," Fuller said. A year later he was appointed chief deputy tax commissioner.

Thompson formerly had served about three years as assistant county attorney and as attorney for the County Board of Tax Assessors from 1936 to 1950. He had also served as city attorney for East Point for a short period. He also is a graduate in electrical engineering of Georgia Tech.

Wyman C. Lowe Charges Primary Irregularities

Fifth District congressional candidate Wyman C. Lowe Tuesday filed a protest, charging irregularities in the Sept. 12 primary. The protest was filed with Walter D. Parris, secretary of the DeKalb County Democratic Executive Committee.

Lowe, who lost to incumbent James C. Davis, almost four-to-one, said he was not filing in an effort to win, but to serve notice of any irregularities that may have existed during the election.

Parris said the committee would take no action on the matter. "We don't consider it any matter we should take legal action on," he said. Lowe lost 27,198 to 7,490.

Reinforced Tulane Announces Its Return to the Majors

Furman BISHOP

Sports Editor

(This is the 10th in Furman Bishop's annual SEC football preview series. Next: Georgia Tech.)

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 18—It was not a particularly good day at Tulane University. The first September letdown had set in. The athletes were dull from an overdose of blocking, tackling and skull massage. Their feet felt like anvils and their legs were numb and unresponsive.

It happens everywhere about this time of year, a sort of a fall-type spring fever. The enthusiasm for football rehearsal has worn off. The first game, it seems, will never get here.

And Anton Pinney, the coach, born in Frontenac, Kan., of a father who had once been the heavyweight wrestling champion of Czechoslovakia, reared in Chicago and trained in the tradition of Notre Dame, was fretting.

"It's days like this," he said, "that you can't see how you'd ever beat anybody. The way I feel right now, we might beat VPI and nobody else."

He paused for a moment of consideration. "And then we might win five. These football seasons will fool you bad. Last year we thought we could beat VMI, Vanderbilt and Mississippi State, and we beat VMI, but we wind up losing to Vandy and State and beating Northwestern, Georgia, Tulane and Alabama."

After a few seasons of administration-enforced isolation, Tulane is now back with the big leaguers. The largest squad since platoon days is at work in the shadow of the Sugar Bowl—60 men, including a bumper sophomore crop. There is another group of impressive freshmen on the other end of the lot. The assumption is that the Greensies are back to stay.

"I don't see how that can be with the kind of academic standards we have to meet," Pinney said. "Only Vanderbilt has a problem similar to ours."

"But, overall, yes, this should be a better team than last year. We should be a good team to watch. But we're just a pretty good team in comparison to the teams we play, meaning that any of them can have the good day and beat us any Saturday."

Tulane has not been magnificently strengthened at any particular positions. The strengthening has been in numbers, in scrimmage competition, in caulking chinks behind the front line. The starting group remains more or less the same in capability.

—Little Newton Finds the Strike Zone

Will Billon and Charlie Mackey are available for the ends again. Dalton Truax and Emmett Zelenka at the tackles and Don Miller at center.

In some cases a coach would go on an extended crying jag over the graduation of Tony Sardisco, All-American, and Bryan Burnthorne at guard. But Jim Zimmerle and Wilbur Troxclair, two seniors seasoned in the wars, move up and there will be no lack of ending.

Gene Newton is a junior at quarterback, a spunky little burr-head who astonished the conference with his break-in season. He wasn't much of a passer, but running his team and running himself he was a productive surprise. Fact is, he ran for 50 more yards than any other quarterback in the league. This year he'll be finding the strike zone more often. He learns fast.

Otis Gilmore is gone at halfback, but Tommy Warner, the team's most spectacular runner, returns and Virgil Jester, Ken Tarzetti and Tony Reginelli will improve on Gilmore. Meaning that three good men are better than one.

Ronnie Quillian will be the fullback, which Tulane considers a condition non pareil. Quillian finished next to Fob James of Auburn in SEC running yardage last season, does the kicking and most of the scoring, and leads cheers. They think down here he belongs with the All-Americans.

—Confidence Came in Texas

Perhaps a year ago this would not have been a status so highly regarded. But 1955 developed rather dramatically for the Green Wave. The impetus, it seems, came from the Texas game, 35-21 defeat though it was.

"The Texas game," Pinney said, "gave us the assurance that we had more offense than we'd figured. We had kids who'd never played a down of varsity ball before, like Billon and Mackey, and Newton, and Al Cottrill (now gone baseball pro). The Texas game gave us confidence in them."

"Put it this way: The Texas game gave us the lift. The Georgia game put us over. We were afraid of Georgia's throwing. We respected them as a good team. When we beat Georgia, we passed our big milestone."

Perhaps the sophomores won't play a lot behind this core of soldiers from '55. But if they should be called up extensively, they won't embarrass the school colors.

The ends won't need much help, for behind Billon and Mackey are Eddie Khayat, best of the pass catchers, Jack Montgomery and Bruce Waters. But there is a large boy named Dave Painter, 6-7, 220, who won the intramural 100-yard dash last spring. He is still crude, but the potential is here, and the same is true of John (The Man) Musial, and both are rookies.

Dan Egan and Don Lockwood can play some tackle and Jim Blount some guard. There is no demand for fresh center replacements, for Ronnie Senac, Benny Tyler and Jim Wilson, all lettermen, want Miller's job.

—Campaign Threats for Truax

Tarzetti, 24 years old and trained in the Marine Corps, should be the most valuable backfield recruit. But there is a chap named Rene Lorio who is about as fine a backfield prospect as Tulane has had in some time. Lorio impresses his teachers with speed, pass-receiving ability and the general all-round qualities of a fine halfback.

Walter Kelly and Jimmy McCoy stand in well as fullback prospects, but with the strong and willing Quillian around there will be few calls for relief.

This leaves a few lines of space in which to speak on the subject of Truax, the tackle. "Unequivocally the finest tackle in the SEC," Pinney says.

"Truax is better than Earl Leggett," he said, "and I'll show you films of our LSU game to prove it. He can do a lot of things. He's not just big, but 225 pounds is big enough, and he's got a lot of cat in him. Just remember what I say, Truax is the best tackle in the conference."

And so we say farewell to picturesque New Orleans, French-scented capital of the scenic South, cuisine empire in itself, home of the Sugar Bowl, the French Quarter, the American dollar and Dalton Truax, All-American tackle.

Fricano Blanks Mobile, 5-0; Memphis Wins Uphill Fight

MEMPHIS, Sept. 18 (AP)—The scrambling Memphis Chicks defeated Mobile, 5-0, tonight and will meet Atlanta for the Southern Assn. championship.

For the Chicks, the series with Mobile was an uphill fight all the way. Mobile grabbed the first two games, Memphis bounced back to tie it up, then Mobile went in front three games to two.

and again Memphis tied it up, then took the rubber game. The best-of-seven series with Atlanta gets underway at Atlanta Thursday.

For Chick pitcher Marion Fricano, tonight's shutout was his second win of the series. He gave up five hits and came through nicely when trouble threatened.

Jim Marshall and Jim Landis furnished the most needed hits for the Chicks.

Mantle's 50th Homer Clinches AL Pennant

Clout in 11th Nips Chisox, 3-2

CHICAGO, Sept. 18 (AP)—Mickey Mantle blasted his 50th home run of the season tonight to carry the New York Yankees to a 3-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox in 11 innings and their seventh American League pennant in eight years.

Mantle's towering upper deck blast, which made him the second Yankee in history to hit 50 home runs, came with two out in the 11th and prevented left-hander Billy Pierce from gaining his 21st triumph of the season.

The drive also gave the Yankees 182 home runs for the season, tying their American League record set in 1936. The only other Yankee ever to hit 50 or more home runs was the Mighty Babe Ruth, who did it four times and set the all-time record of 60.

Mantle now is eight games behind Ruth's record-setting pace of 1927 and has little chance to catch or pass up the Babe.

Whitey Ford gained his 19th triumph of the season against five losses but needed help in the 11th inning after giving up a single and a walk. Bob Grim came in to put out the fire.

The White Sox scored both of their runs on homers by Larry Doby in the first inning and Walt Dropo in the eighth. It was Doby's 20th of the season and sixth Nellie Fox dropped his fly ball in short right. Martin scored on Mickey's single.

Martin kept Yankee hopes alive in the ninth. He tripled to start the inning and scored the tying run on Yogi Berra's bloop single to left.

Yankee Manager Casey Stengel, who has led the New Yorkers to their last seven flags, is now one shy of Joe McCarthy's record as the all-time winningest Yankee leader.

"Bring on those National Leaguers," cried Stengel. Casey did all the shouting and noise-making for the benefit of newspaper photographers and newsreel men.

The usually tight-lipped Mantle, expressing surprise that he is the only other Yankee beside Babe Ruth to hit 50 or more homers, said he felt "pretty good."

MAJORS, PHILLIPS TOP SELECTIONS

By LARRY FOX
Southern Conference sports writers made Tennessee halfback John Majors and Auburn end Jimmy (Red) Phillips their only unanimous choices in picking a star-studded all-Conference team for The Constitution on the eve of the 1956 football season.

Phillips, one of two juniors to crash the all-star eleven, has already been tabbed for all-America honors on several pre-season selections. He and guard Ernest Danjean give Auburn two men on the rugged squad, a feat matched only by Kentucky with Dave Kuhn, the talented center, and Lou Michaels, the tackle with the educated toe.

Majors, a well-rounded performer in the tradition of Ten-nnessee tailbacks, has also been mentioned as all-America timber and heads an all-star backfield that combined for 292 points and 3,101 yards last season.

Teaming with Majors in the all-senior backfield are fullbacks Paige Cothren of Mississippi and Ronnie Quillian of Tulane and halfback George Volkert of Georgia Tech.

Majors was the total offense champ for the SEC last year, while Cothren, who set a national record by kicking six field goals, was the league's leading scorer. Quillian, who punts, and Volkert, a good pass receiver, are also multiple threats in the backfield. And every one of the four is solid on defense, too.

It is as a two-way unit that this first annual pre-season all-star team excels. Every man on the team can block and tackle. None is a liability on defense.

Running down the line, you find Phillips and Ron Bennett of Mississippi State at the ends, hulking Earl Leggett of LSU and Michaels at the tackles, Danjean and John Barrow of Florida at the guards and Kuhn at center. Leggett missed unanimous selection by just one vote.

Headed by the monstrous Leggett's 265 pounds, the line averages a husky 223. The backfield scales around 183, solid, but plenty mobile. Combined, the team averages 208 1/2.

Leggett and Majors are the

Experts Pick Constitution's All-SEC Squad

In preparing this pre-season all-SEC team, The Constitution sought votes from a cross-section of top editors and writers from the conference area. Twelve sports writers were polled, each theoretically representing the "home" area of an SEC member, but having, through coverage of games last season and of training camps this fall, a thorough knowledge of the conference as a whole.

Representing Georgia schools are Furman Bisher, The Constitution's sports editor, and Larry Fox, The Constitution's college writer. Others voting were:

Lightweights Lane, Lightburn Go on TV

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 18 (AP)—Kenny Lane says he'll carry the fight to Ludwig Lightburn when the two lightweight boxing contenders meet tomorrow night in Miami's new Biscayne Arena and Lightburn says he hopes Lane is a truthful man.

"Most of my knockouts have been over fighters who tried to press me," said Lightburn, a stylish 22-year-old from British Honduras. "If Lane will come to me, I think I can stop him."

Lane, 24-year-old southpaw from Muskegon, Mich., wasn't as cocky as his opponent. Anything, he said, "can happen in a fight and Lightburn is always in shape and always on top of you."

The 10-round bout, launching the Biscayne Arena built by promoter W. H. Peeples, will be televised and broadcast nationally (ABC) starting at 9 p.m. (EST). Lane, the no. 6 lightweight contender, will be going for his ninth straight victory. He has won 43 out of 48 fights but has only three knockouts to his credit.

'TV Star' Set For Opener

By BERT PRATHER

As Coach Bobby Dodd readies his Georgia Tech footballers for Saturday's opener against Kentucky's Wildcats, he may have some problems but one thing is for sure: He has no worries at that all important post of left halfback.

Reason is a certain senior from Roanoke, Va., by the name of Paul Dean Rotenberry.

This young fellow, rounding out a brilliant career with the Jackets, is probably the best balanced backfielder in the conference. He does everything well and above all, he's the guy who will do it in the clutch, too.

Dodd calls him a "coach's ballplayer." When the visiting coach walks across the field after a game to congratulate Coach Dodd, he usually has a word of praise for that left halfback.

Coach Andy Gustafson of University of Miami, for one, won't forget Rotenberry. His powerful Hurricanes got a good sample of the Rotenberry type of play in last season's opener here at Grant Field. That game, like the one coming up in Lexington, Ky., Saturday, was nationally televised.

Miami was doing pretty well until Paul tucked in a Hurricane punt and ran it back 48 yards for a touchdown that gave the Jackets a 7-0 lead. They finally trimmed the visitors 14-6 that day.

And just to make a lasting impression on the husky Hurricanes, Paul, during one stretch made five out of six tackles. It was truly one of his great games for Tech, but then fans have become so accustomed to watching Paul deliver the goods that they figure such performances are all in a day's work for this former All-America high school single wing tailback.

Dodd rates Paul the best defensive halfback he's ever coached. Running and tackling are only two of his talents. He's a fair punter, a good passer, excellent pass receiver, and a stand-out blocker.

Some of these talents are not utilized to the fullest because there are several other talented backs at the Flats and, of course Paul can't be in two places at once.

Rotenberry was injured in the Miami game last year, got in the Florida game the next week, but was hurt again and missed about half of the season.

This time, Paul has reported in the best condition of his career and has been outstanding in pre-season practice, all of which has made Dodd and the staff very happy over the left half situation. Of course, Dodd is hoping Paul will do a repeat performance for the nation's TV audience Saturday.

If any further proof is needed to substantiate Rotenberry's candidacy for all-star honors, one has only to look behind him. Stan Flowers, big bruising junior from Memphis, Tenn., plays No. 2 and senior Johnny Menger, the versatile man from Augusta, plays No. 3 halfback.

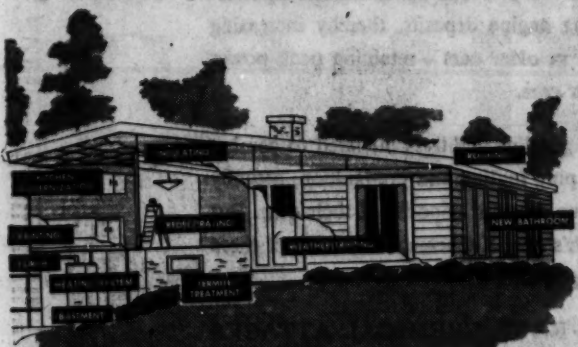

All of which adds up to the fact that Georgia Tech has the best three left halfbacks in the Southeastern Conference and probably in the entire southland.

FLAT FACTS: The Jackets devoted Tuesday's workout mostly to brushing up their passing plays and returning punts. The team will leave for Lexington at 11:30 a.m. Friday by plane. Forty-one players are listed on the traveling squad. Wives of players and coaches will make this trip. They are also scheduled to make the Florida trip with the team. The hospital unit, called the "gray squad" because they watch practice sessions attired in gray sweats, is made up of tackle Carl Vereen, guard Allen Ecker, quarterback Wade Mitchell and end Paul Vickers. Vickers is out until the SMU game.

Not All Luck, Pud Up Front

BY DAN KITCHENS
Special to The Constitution
ATHENS, Ga., Sept. 18.—The phrase most often heard these days when the Georgia tackle situation is discussed is: "If Luck's and Mosteller's knees hold up, etc. etc."

Usually the et ceteras concede that the Bulldog tackle spots are in good hands now, that is Luck's and Mosteller's, but darkly hint that things would almost certainly be in a pickle if the two old war horses pull up spavined.

Invited to clear up the picture, tackle coach Wyatt Posey Tuesday had a few words about the reserves in his stable.

"Of course, we hope both Luck and Pud have their best years this season," Posey said. "They are honest, capable and experienced ball players who can have a great deal to do with our success this season."

"But," he continued, "we have behind them some of the finest youngsters I have coached. Some of them can be as good as they want to be."

The youngsters Posey referred to are Riley Gunnels, Nat Dye, Bob Sedlock and Mike Meatheringham. The first three are sophomores, and Meatheringham a junior. Each is only 19 years old, with plenty of time to improve.

Posey could hardly have more imposing physical specimens to work with. Meatheringham and Sedlock are the giants of the young corps at 6-5 and 6-4 and tipping the scales at 235 and 265.

Gunnels and Dye are close behind at 6-3, 225 and 6-3, 218, a total of 25 feet, three inches and 923 pounds—a lot of tackle in anybody's uniform.

Gunnels is currently running number two on the left side behind Luck, and, if injury should claim a product of the Athens YMCA, big John, has the best chance to see full-time duty.

Gunnels went on to make the all-region and all-state team in both class "C" and class "A" during prep days at Calhoun.

Dye and Meatheringham are fighting for the number two spot behind Mosteller, with Sedlock spurring them on. Posey said that Meatheringham can, if called on to do so, play both the right and left side.

AUBURN, Ala., Sept. 18.—There are those days—those days when the first string stumbles even coming out of the huddle—and those days when the second string looks like the first string. This was Auburn Tuesday afternoon.

Lefthalf Tommy Lorino, only a sophomore, was running for touchdowns—fullback Billy Atkins looked like Joe Childress—Frank Riley handled the ball with finesse—Pat Meagher zipped through for long gains.

In the line, the second crowd had a pair of strong-armed ends in sophomores Jerry Wilson and Mike Simmons—soph tackles Dan Presley and Cleve Wester blocked better than their immediate superiors Ben Preston and Paul Terry—guards Don Braswell and Frank LaRossa were faster, and center Jimmie Ricketts looked like a starter.

TIGER NOTES—Most improved veterans during the past week are guard Ken Johns, battling with Don Braswell for second-string honors behind Chuck Maxime; and fullback Donnie May, renewing his fullback battle.

Louis Frels returned to action after five days on the shelf with a bum shoulder. Latest line-back "find" is 210-pound Hayward Warrick of Dothan, Ala. The big soph has had no passes completed in his zone for two days. An injury to fullback Albert Chisenall (playing the role of Tennessee's Tommy Bronson) has hurt the Vol offense against the varsity.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Sept. 18.—Harry Spears, service-returned from Knoxville, Tenn., looms as Coach Bob Woodruff's choice as Florida's starting quarterback against Mississippi State Saturday.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 18.—Emphasis was on the running game and pass defense as Kentucky stepped up the tempo today in getting ready for its season-opening game with Georgia Tech Saturday.

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Sept. 18.—With emphasis on pass and goal-line defense, Coach Wade Walker put Mississippi State through another drill today with the reminder it would find Florida a tough opponent.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 18.—Fullback Ronny Quillian got a bruised knee and No. 2 quarterback Fred Wilcox a twisted ankle as Coach Andy Pines today put Tulane through 90 minutes of rough offensive and defensive scrimmage.

senior among tackle reserves, Alex MacDonald. When Pud was out last year, MacDonald and Walter White, now graduated, shared right tackle duties. MacDonald has this year been moved to the left side.

Posey emphasized that he is not yet satisfied with his youngsters. "They are far too inexperienced as yet to know what they can do," he said. "But the hustle and determination they have shown this fall is pleasing. And, by the end of this season, we should be strong and deep at tackle."

Sophomore guard Cicero Lucas, working with the second team, drew praise for his defensive efforts. . . . Tackle Mike Meatheringham, his injured knee apparently okay, played both sides in reserve.

CHAMPS AT GATE

Crax' Fans Lead, Too

The pennant-winning Atlanta Crackers led the Southern Association at the gate as well as on the field, official attendance figures for the 1956 season released Tuesday by league president Charles Hurth reveal.

Once again the Crackers led the league in total attendance and also in average attendance per game. And the Atlanta club showed the second largest attendance increase of any club in the circuit.

Atlanta, best baseball city in the minors, soared to an attendance of 265,578 for the season, 76,581 more than runnerup Birmingham.

The league picture as a whole, however, was not as bright. Overall attendance dropped 38,881 to 1,088,231 paid admissions in 1956, a decrease of slightly less than three and a half per cent. Only three clubs showed an increase at the gate, Atlanta, Little Rock-Montgomery and Memphis, which showed the biggest jump.

Announcing A New Super-Premium Gasoline
with Entirely New Benefits for You

New Sinclair Power-X with X-Chemical

Increases Power Cuts Operating Costs as You Drive

Because Sinclair Power-X with X-Chemical

- ▶ Eliminates power-robbing engine deposits
- ▶ Increases octane performance and power
- ▶ 90% more effective than any other gasoline additive in preventing spark plug fouling
- ▶ 70% more effective in stopping power loss from pre-ignition knock

All Cars Need it... Only Sinclair Has it

How New Power-X With X-Chemical Works

Sinclair's exclusive X-Chemical does what other additives fail to do. It eliminates power-robbing engine deposits, thereby increasing power in older cars—retaining peak power in new cars.

Other gasoline additives intended to combat spark plug fouling and pre-ignition, actually build up harmful deposits of their own. But Sinclair's new X-Chemical has none of these damaging after-effects.

THIS RARE CHEMICAL ATTACKS HARD, CRUSTY DEPOSITS—CHANGES THEM INTO HARMLESS, POWDERY MATERIAL.

After just three tankfuls of new Super-Premium Power-X, you can feel the improvement in performance—provided you do not mix it with other gasoline. See your Sinclair Dealer and power up with Power-X.

Dulles Fighting To Keep 18 Nations Unified in Seeking Solution on Suez have lacked enthusiasm for the new plan.

It was considered indispensable to keep these nations in the "users" group, which might otherwise appear to be dominated by Britain, France and the United States. It was thought desirable also to retain the Asian nations, so the group would not become exclusively Western.

For these reasons Dulles was expected to present his plan in a highly tentative form and to invite amendments.

Not only have the lesser nations not yet caught up with the new Dulles proposal for uniting canal users, but members of Eden's Conservative party have expressed disquietude regarding what they consider the less than complete unity of view between the Prime Minister and Dulles on Suez and Middle East policy.

The problem was to ally fears of both war and economic war. Just as the international operation plan was designed as a way of avoiding British and French military action by negotiation, the new plan is designed to bring about this negotiation by economic pressure.

Behind the "users' association," which is at best only a provisional device, lies the possibility of a boycott. To some nations this looks like an economic war and is feared only less than a military war.

Even the British, who have accepted the "users' association," have done so with a realization that a boycott, followed by other economic sanctions, might injure them more than Nasser. Britain is highly sensitive to any loss of foreign trade.

Meanwhile, the basic assumption of both the first and the second Dulles plans—which was that Egypt would be unable to operate the canal—still awaited practical confirmation. Reports from Egypt indicated traffic was moving smoothly through the canal under guidance of Egyptian pilots.

This fact seemed to deprive the "users' association" of its justification, or at least of its urgency.

If Egypt could keep the canal running, even for this week while the London conference meets, it would be more difficult to persuade all 18 nations that they must act on their own to obtain them more than Nasser. The observers here predicted.

The purpose of the "users' association" would be to improve the negotiating position of those nations seeking another system.

is expected that it will have cost more than $85,000,000.

The system has been financed jointly by the city, county, state and federal governments. City funds for this purpose are exhausted and county funds are almost exhausted.

At Tuesday's meeting at the State Office Building, called by Lawson to help speed up construction of the Expressway system, Shadburn said unfinished projects are "being pushed as fast as good engineering and careful traffic management will permit."

He estimated that the downtown connector will be completed within four years.

Sections being readied for contracting, he said, include Richardson street to Memorial drive, including the Capitol area interchange and portions of the stretch from Memorial drive to Edgewood avenue.

The next contract to be let, he said, should be the section from Hunter street to Edgewood avenue.

Shadburn reported that field surveys for the planned east leg of the Expressway have been completed from Hill street at Rawson street to Lithonia. This is part of the 16-mile planned east-west Expressway.

Right of way plans for the Atlanta-to-Lithonia leg are completed and approved by the Bureau of Public Roads except for clearing up a point at a proposed interchange, Shadburn said. He said right of way acquisition will begin upon approval by the bureau. Construction plans are partly finished and will be completed early in 1957, he said.

Shadburn said preliminary plans of the route of the proposed west leg from the interchange just south of Memorial drive near the Capitol, toward Birmingham, would be laid out within a few weeks.

On the proposed circumferential route, Shadburn reported that right of way plans are completed on one section — from near Red Oak passing eastward and connecting with old U.S. 41, southeast of Hapeville. He said right of way plans are 85 per cent complete on the ably in the ever-growing prosperity, he continued.

Later in the day White House press secretary Hagerty announced Eisenhower will speak informally at the Des Moines Airport Friday afternoon following an off-the-cuff talk earlier at the National Field Days and plowing contests near Newton, Ia.

Accompanied by his wife, the President will fly to Des Moines Friday and motor to Boone, Ia., Mrs. Eisenhower's birthplace.

Eisenhower will make a formal farm speech in Peoria, Ill., Sept. 25. He is expected to deal also with the farm issue to some extent in a CBS nationally televised campaign speech from a studio here tomorrow night.

Again and again the President emphasized that "the truth should be our campaign." Eisenhower in his breakfast speech said that "misrepresentations and distortions" by the opposition should be corrected.

He added that in past campaigns, whether military or political, when he had a cause in which he believed enough he became so busy with the tasks at hand that he didn't know what others were saying.

"Let them (the Democrats) do the yelling," Eisenhower said.

Responding for the group, Nixon promised the Republicans would take the President's advice. Nixon is a constant target for Democratic attack, in part because of the controversial nature of his 1954 campaign speeches blaming the Democrats for Communism in government.

"We have something better to offer the American people than mere personal abuse and vilification of our opponents," Nixon said.

Others honored at the breakfast as they set forth on campaign tours were Secretary of the Interior Seaton, Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, House Republican leader; Sen. Knowland of California, Senate Republican leader, and Rep. Halleck of Indiana, deputy Republican leader in the House. Behind the head table were big maps outlining the travel schedules of these five men.

ITCHY SCALP?

NEW SCIENTIFIC FORMULA* STOPS DANDRUFF AND ITCHY SCALP

Proved successful in 97.3% of severe cases tested!

The Sebb formula was tested by an eminent dermatologist on extreme dandruff cases who suffered so severely from seborrheic dermatitis that professional help was necessary. These were patients who had eruptions not only on the scalp, but on ears, face, neck, chest and arms. In 97.3% of these cases, Sebb was successful!

Then Sebb was given to men and women with "everyday" dandruff problems—itching scalp, dryness, flaking, scaling, irritation, the constant annoyance of dandruff. These reports speak for themselves.

Miss Patricia King, Washington, D.C.: "Sebb stopped my dandruff and itchy scalp in 6 days. In fact, it stopped the itching almost immediately. All the flaking had disappeared in less than a week. Sebb really works."

Mr. Stanley Ryan, Annandale, Va.: "I had dandruff for 12 years, and all the itching that goes with it. The first time I put on Sebb, the itching stopped. 8 days later, my dandruff was gone."

SEBB IS SAFE—No doctor's prescription is needed. Sebb is a new combination of drugs never before used to combat dandruff, itchy scalp and seborrheic dermatitis. Its continued use stops the return of dandruff and itchy scalp.

EASY TO USE AS WATER—Just shake it on your scalp right out of the bottle. Then comb your hair and forget it. Sebb is not the least bit oily or greasy, so there's no mess. Sebb has no medicinal odor, just a mild pleasant scent.

All-Out Phone Barrage To Assail Closing of School Near Augusta

Residents of the Sand Bar Ferry road area Tuesday night mapped plans for an all-out "telephone barrage" on members of the Richmond County Board of Education.

The group meeting in protest to the board's decision in closing down the Sand Bar Ferry School, pledged themselves repeatedly to call all board members in an effort to have the closure decision rescinded.

In another development Tuesday, Superior Court Judge F. Frederick Kennedy continued a hearing in the school case until 11 a.m., Sept. 26.

Judge Kennedy signed a "show cause" order Saturday ordering the board to defend the closing of the school and present legal argument as to why they should not be restrained. The hearing originally was set for Wednesday morning.

The continuance was ordered because all members of the board had not been served with the order.

Monday night an attorney for the parent-teacher association of the school said a congressional probe into federal funds used for school purposes "may be called" as a result of the school's closure.

The school was ordered closed by the Richmond County Board of Education because of the small number of pupils enrolled. The pupils were ordered to attend Houghton school, about one mile away.

"We are considering the idea of a federal investigation," William J. Fleming Jr., said.

"We have grounds if we can show an abuse of discretion," Fleming said.

Strike Looms At Swift's as U.S. Steps In

A federal mediator in Chicago Tuesday renewed attempts to head off a strike Thursday of 25,000 workers in 40 Swift & Co. plants — including the Atlanta unit.

"Something under 500" of the approximately 750 Atlanta employees of Swift are members of the United Packinghouse Workers and the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, the unions threatening a strike, said O. C. Yeakley, a local manager for Swift.

Contract talks were broken off last Thursday but both sides have said they are willing to resume negotiations. The unions are seeking a "substantial" wage boost and a union shop, it was reported.

Third 'Bug' Figure Sentenced Here

Trial of Mrs. Reba Strickland in connection with what officials termed a $1,300,000-a-year numbers racket was averted here Tuesday as the defendant changed her innocent plea to one of nolo contendere (no contest).

She received a suspended sentence and was placed on 18 months' probation by U. S. District Judge Frank A. Hooper. Sentenced Monday on the same two-count indictment were Henry Grady (Jelly) Jones, who received a 12-month prison term to run concurrently with state terms he is now serving, and Mrs. Johnson, who has until 9:30 a.m. Thursday to pay a $1,000 fine.

The three were arrested in connection with a November 1953 federal raid on a Cobb County farmhouse. Agents termed the farmhouse "central headquarters for the biggest lottery ring we've ever raided in Georgia."

The Atlanta Journal AND THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

The Fulton County Welfare Board Tuesday approved a tentative budget request of $1,385,932, the county's share of 1957 welfare costs.

The budget calls for $92,833.11 more from the county commissioners than was appropriated this year when the budget included $1,293,099.92 in county funds.

The board went on record pointing out the budget does not include funds for salary increases since it understood the county does not contemplate general salary raises. If the county does plan salary increases for other departments, then the welfare board would need additional funds to participate, members said.

Billy Graham Never Lose Desire To Go to Church

QUESTION: My husband refuses to let me go to church. I was converted through your radio message and have been happy in the Lord since that time. Now I want to have fellowship with others who believe as I do, but he won't let me. Should I defy him and go or should I do my husband's wish? F. J.

ANSWER: A woman is supposed to be in subjection to a reasonable husband and even in the case of an unreasonable one, she should try to please him unless it clearly causes her to commit sin. Certainly every believer needs the fellowship of other Christians. You need the spiritual nourishment available through the church.

However, it would be unwise to defy your husband. I believe you will find that he is making an issue because he is himself convicted of his own sins. He perhaps thinks he can keep you on his level by keeping you from attending some church.

Don't give up your desire to have the fellowship of Christians, but pray and wait for the time when you can do it without creating a home situation. Let him think of your desire to please God and to be a good wife at the same time.

God can change his heart just as he changed yours, but he is probably watching to see whether your faith is genuine or not. We will pray with you for the answer to this problem.

WORRY CLINIC: Motorists Can Be Psychoanalyzed by Way They Drive

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
Col. Franklin M. Kreml is famous for his work in promoting traffic safety.

Some years ago he asked me to teach the psychology course at our Northwestern University Traffic Institute, which offers specialized instruction to picked police officers from all over the land.

Incidentally, the modern police officer is a smart man. His IQ is very high.

In fact, the men whom I taught at the Traffic Institute made higher grades on the mental tests that I administered, than did my senior students in the Liberal Arts College at Northwestern University.

So banish from your mind all thoughts that policemen are "dumb cops." Instead, they are both smart and versatile, with knowledge of law, medicine, civics and Applied Psychology.

"Dr. Crane," asked one of my police students, "don't you think it might be possible to psychoanalyze a person by the way he handles his automobile?"

And that was a very shrewd query, for you can make many valid deductions about a person in that manner.

For example, a person who guns his motor unduly at the take-off may be compensating for a deep-seated inferiority complex.

"People beat me in everything else," such a kid may think, "so I'll restore my ego by showing them that I can get away from a stop light before anybody else."

That also explains much of the high speed driving on the highways.

"If my car can pass all others on the road," these inferiority complexers think, "then that suggests that I can surpass everybody in other respects."

That is an illogical conclusion, but you have all seen scores of such "juvenile" speedsters, even though their calendar age was 40 or 50.

People who lack prestige in business or social realms, may likewise try to inflate their ego by gloating over the power of their automobile motor.

Again they make the fallacious error of thinking:

"If my car has the highest horsepower, that will indicate that I am powerful and dominant."

Teen-agers, as well as their parents, often take out their pent-up ire on the innocent family car.

Thus, they slam the door with a bang when they get into the driver's seat. They grow violent if the motor doesn't start at once.

Wives have told me about their husbands who would actually kick the car or punch the auto radio when it failed to work.

And one young husband would grow so violent, he'd take a brick or a tire tool and smash the windows and headlights on his own auto.

After he calmed down, then he'd grow remorseful. And as he considered the cost of the repairs, he'd grow angry at himself for his own stupidity.

Some drivers never show "empathy" as regards their own automobile. They don't remotely imagine that it grows thirsty for water in the radiator.

Nor do they dream of the wrenching and "pain" of the tires when they spin the rear wheels on a take-off or turn a corner on two wheels.

A careful driver has feelings for his car as well as for the safety of other motorists. So he checks oil and gas, as well as air pressure in his tires.

Others are as sadistic with their cars as their forefathers were similarly cruel to horses.

We need a new Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Automobiles.

You high schoolers might develop an interesting "Personality Test" based on the way a person treats his automobile and his fellow motorist.

Rep. Davis Vows To Battle Communism and Waste

Rep. James C. Davis Tuesday accepted the nomination as Democratic Party candidate for the Fifth District congressional seat with a pledge to continue fighting Communism and working for economy in government.

Davis made the remarks as the Fifth District Congressional Committee officially confirmed Davis' nomination as a result of the Sept. 12 primary in which Davis polled 76,293 votes in Fulton, DeKalb and Rockdale counties.

In other business, the convention selected officers and appointed an executive committee.

Davis said communism is the only "shadow" which "lies across the path to peace." This nation must "maintain its military strength so the Communists will know that if they attack us they will be defeated," he asserted.

Pointing to the needs for scientific knowledge, Davis said Russia has "outstripped us" in the education and training of top scientists.

Because of the need to maintain military strength and because of other fixed expenditures, Davis said there are not a great many opportunities for economics in government.

The best place to cut expenses, he declared, would be in reducing the federal government's number of civilian employees by about 10 per cent. This reduction would cut $1 billion from the present $10 billion payroll he said.

Davis also urged convention members not to forget that he still faces Republican opposition Nov. 6.

The convention renamed Murphy Candler Jr. as chairman and John A. Dunaway as secretary. Candler, declaring opponents of Davis have charged that the convention did not name the executive committee, announced the recommendations of the nominating committee for the executive group, then the floor open to nominations. There were none.

The executive committee includes W. Colquit Carter, Dunaway, William A. Grant, Roy G. Livingston, William A. Lynn and Henry B. Troutman of Fulton; Candler, Harvey Chestnut, Vernon Frank, Abit Massey and Douglas McCurdy of DeKalb, and Charles E. Rich and Gailey D. Summers of Rockdale.

Suez Reports Traffic Normal, Pilots Ample

By SAM POPE BREWER

(Copyright, 1956, by The New York Times Co.)

PORT SAID, Egypt, Sept. 18—The new chief of the Suez Canal administration said today: "The pilot crisis is over. We now have an ample number of pilots for all ships that might want to come through."

Asked what would happen if a ship tried to go through without accepting a pilot from his organization, Col. Mahmoud Yunis said, "Let them try."

He accused employees of the old company of trying to sabotage operations. He said he had to use them for a time though "unfortunately some of them were not loyal."

The canal still seems to be operating normally after a mass walkout of non-Egyptian personnel at midnight Friday. Traffic has been slightly below the recent average.

Col. Yunis said traffic always was figured on the basis of monthly averages.

Day-to-day fluctuations might give false impressions in a shorter period, he said. Today 16 ships passed southward from Port Said to Suez, and 15 were reported heading north.

At noon today when the south-bound convoy cleared Port Said, there were no ships left without pilots. Almost immediately others began arriving but it is standard procedure for them to wait for the next morning's convoy.

Because canal traffic is one-

Youth Fires Up His Cat, Burns Down His Barn

BROMYARD, England, Sept. 18—Peter Snatchford, 11, had a singed cat and a burned barn today to show for his fumbles. Peter accidentally dropped a lighted match on his pet cat last night. The cat, its fur burning, streaked into a barn filled with hay.

The cat kept on going, singed but safe. The barn burned.

For men and women who can't stop dandruff with tonics or shampoos—

THERADAN

anti-dandruff formula with Sarthionate

Proved completely effective against even severe dandruff with just 3 applications

Like any man or woman who suffers from itching, embarrassing dandruff, you may doubt a promise that it can be controlled... much less eliminated for prolonged periods of time.

But Theradan is more than a promise. It is not just another tonic, not a shampoo, not a "remedy" you have to use every day. It is a new and completely different formula—revolutionary in the laboratory and now tried and proved in practical use.

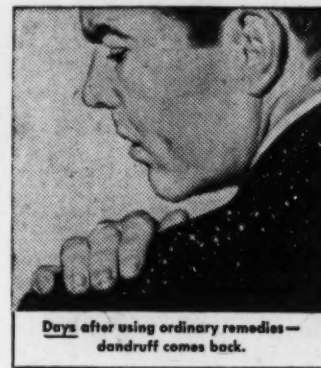

Completely Effective against Severe Dandruff

Applied to the scalp and left on before shampooing, Theradan has repeatedly demonstrated its ability to provide prolonged freedom from dandruff—usually with just 3 applications.

For example, in 20 months of clinical testing, Theradan proved completely effective in cases of severe dandruff. For most of these men and women, there was no recurrence of dandruff for from 6 weeks to more than 6 months! Theradan's results are all the more remarkable when you realize that in some of these severe dandruff cases, even strong prescription preparations had failed to give adequate relief.

Does What No Tonic or Shampoo Can Do

Theradan goes far beyond the action of tonics, shampoos and ordinary remedies that only remove loose surface flakes of dandruff for a little while. Such preparations can't touch the real

Days after using ordinary remedies—dandruff comes back.

Weeks after using Theradan—still no dandruff.

source of trouble, the layer of scales underneath that keeps flaking off and producing new dandruff.

Because Theradan contains penetrating Sarthionate, it gets right into the stubborn, dandruff-forming layer. Gently and surely, it breaks up molecular adhesion and lifts the dead layer of scales from your normal healthy scalp.

Thus, Theradan leaves your scalp so completely clean and scale-free that new dandruff flakes don't form again for weeks and months.

At the same time, Theradan kills scalp germs associated with infectious dandruff—and ends the itching and burning. If you or any member of your family are troubled with dandruff, start using Theradan today with confidence.

Soft, Lush Fabrics in Fall Line

By MARY GRAY ANDERSON
Fashions by Helga of California will be shown at a benefit fashion show at the Piedmont Driving Club Wednesday.

This luncheon show is a part of the annual fund-raising campaign of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Free Cancer Home in Atlanta, as well as one of the highlights in fashions during the fall season.

Walter Oppenheimer, president of Helga fashions, will come to Atlanta from California to commentate the show. The show, sponsored by an Atlanta women's specialty store, will include about 45 costumes from the designer's fall collection.

SOFT, LUSH FABRICS

Helga is noted for her use of soft, lush fabrics that she manipulates so beautifully in clothes for day, late-day and evening.

This season she has done many basic little wool dresses that are simple, yet distinctive. She has used many rich brocades. Also, she has added panels, and sometimes even trains, to the backs of her elegant ball gowns.

The California designer has taken a checked wool tailored-type dress out of the ordinary by adding a back panel that is buttoned-down part of the way. Matching buttons placed on the self-covered belt make it look as if it belongs to the panel. She gives the dress added richness with a little velvet collar.

SOPHISTICATION

Most of her clothes lean toward sophistication rather than fussiness. A beautifully manipulated drape that gives the effect of an overskirt on the sides may be the only adornment on a decolette peau de soie late-day dress.

Pictured are three costumes from Helga's fall collection to be shown here.

Diane Sikes models a men's wear striped wool costume dress. It is a sheath dress with its own short, dandyish jacket. The jacket features the new below-the-elbow sleeves and an interesting collar treatment. The panels of the notched collar turn in instead of out. When the neckline is filled with a scarf it looks like a blossom just beginning to open its petals.

Helen Wells is wearing a pink satin evening gown that is laden with applied petals, in a slightly deeper shade of pink, that are outlined with silver thread. This is another example of the beauty Helga puts into a gown, yet keeping it on the simple, understated side in silhouette.

SOPHISTICATED MOOD

Dee Evans is shown in one of the designer's very sophisticated moods. Black satin is fashioned into a long, slender sheath with a high-rising waistline. The bodice slopes from a high-rising petal shaping in front to a plunging effect in back.

A train flows from the top of the gown in back and sweeps to the floor. Here the black satin is underlined with fuchsia satin. The top of the train is accented with a big bunch of light fuchsia roses.

The clothes shown are available in Atlanta. For shopping information call WA. 5050, Ext. 394, or send a self-addressed post card to the Women's Department, The Atlanta Constitution.

Celestine Sibley Centennial Attractions

Georgia has broken out in a rash of centennial celebrations since Milledgeville had the first one a few years ago. But Jonesboro, currently celebrating its 100th birthday, has a couple of special advantages most cities, big or little, young or old, would give a pretty to claim.

Those two advantages are Mrs. Charles Bedford Lyle, 83-year-old queen of the centennial, and Col. John W. West, 79-year-old mentor on history and lend-lease source of ancient relics, gimcracks and gewgaws.

Mrs. Lyle, delicate and sparkling as a bit of cutglass, is the kind of queen you admire to meet—and old-school Southern lady, who knew Jonesboro when it was a little old country town of 800 people.

"We had no cars then," "Miss Frankie" said. "We used to walk everywhere. I guess I knew everybody in town."

"She still does," a young neighbor put in. "When I first moved here 10 years ago Miss Frankie walked me to town, all hatted and gloved as she always is, and she introduced me to every living soul we met. I knew then I had really made my official debut in Jonesboro!"

Mrs. Lyle lives in the home on Cloud street to which she moved as a bride. Her nephew, L. H. Lyle, lives in the house where she grew up, the home of her grandfather, Dr. Thomas Burnside, who was one of the first doctors in the area.

Col. West, the other special centennial attraction which Jonesboro possesses, is a former president of North Georgia College and a former professor at Georgia Military Academy. When I called on him he was sitting in a rocker on the front gallery of a weathered old log and plank house beside the expressway, looking like a real Southern colonel in white suit and black string tie and old-fashioned high-laced white buckskin shoes.

The house is one of a group of old buildings he has moved to Jonesboro and reconstructed to make a complete old-style home place, including smoke house, gin, school house and all farm buildings. Every building is jammed with relics of the past—Minie balls picked up on the Jonesboro battlefields, an astonishing firearm collection, implements such as a pot used to boil the salt out of the sea water during the Civil War, a loom, a rope-making device, a shoe shop and a collection of old carriages, buggies, wagons and steam engines.

Col. West is actually the proprietor of a for-pay museum, which grew out of his hobby when he retired from GMA. But he placed all of his cherished antiques at the disposal of the centennial committee to decorate store windows and to enliven the parade at 4 p.m. Wednesday.

More than that, he dressed up and went to all the parties and served as caller at the square dance.

"If I see 25 more days I will be four-score years old," the tall, erect, blue-eyed colonel said breezily. "I want to celebrate this time because I may not be around for Jonesboro's 200th birthday."

Voters Guild To Meet Today

The first fall meeting of the Atlanta Voters Guild will be held in the auditorium of the Buckhead branch of the Atlanta Federal Savings & Loan Assn., Wednesday, Sept. 19, at 10:30 a.m. There will be a program on city government followed by a business meeting and presentation of by-laws.

Martha Rountree Brings Daughter To Meet Her 3 Cousins in Atlanta

By BETTY CARROLLTON

A "nose for news" has paid off for a pretty Southern belle. Mrs. Oliver M. Presbrey, known to television and radio audiences as Martha Rountree, not only knows the news, she often makes it.

As on-the-spot producer, press chairman and "referee" for NBC-TV's weekly "Press Conference," Martha has scooped the nation on news more than once.

But it's all in a day's work for the attractive native of Columbia, S.C.

Martha studied journalism at the University of South Carolina and broke into the writing field of radio in New York.

"I went to New York to work on the Sun," she recalled in Atlanta Tuesday, where "Press Conference" will originate at 7 p.m. Wednesday with Senator-nominee Talmadge as special guest.

"The only New York hotel I'd ever heard of was the Waldorf," she continued, "so I immediately checked in there. My salary was $28 a week—and the hotel room was $26 a week."

After Martha had spent half a day as guest of the hotel, friends came to her rescue, inviting her to stay with them temporarily.

She worked at the paper only a week, then tried her hand at script writing, copy writing for an advertising firm and turning out short stories for pulp magazines.

RECORDING STUDIO

Martha and her sister Ann opened a radio-recording studio which proved a lever to the door of success for the Carolina girl.

Later, Martha introduced a new type program to radio and television. Her "Leave It to the Girls," "Meet the Press" (which she co-produced with Lawrence Spivak and later sold to him), "Keeping Posted" and "The Big Issue" brought news as it was happening to the American public.

Martha met Oliver Presbrey, an advertising executive, when one of his accounts sponsored her "Keeping Posted" program.

A year later, in 1952, they were married, and are now co-producers of "Press Conference."

The Presbrees divide their "at home" time between a Washington apartment and a country estate in nearby Warrenton, Va., where they spend as much time as possible with their daughters, Martha, 3, and Mary Ann, 1½.

"We have a swimming pool in Warrenton that we practically live in during the summer," Martha said. "My husband enjoys outdoor cooking there, and we usually just relax and read the comics."

Martha reads about 20 different newspapers from cover to cover each week, in addition to news magazines, listening to radio and watching television programs.

"COOK'S DAY OFF"

"On her day off," which also is the cook's day off," she confines her duties to cooking and other household chores.

The keen-minded personality, a master at political maneuvering, has definite ideas on raising her family.

"I don't believe in progressive education," she said. "My children are taught to say 'yes, sir,' and all the usual courtesies. They learn to mind; pick up their clothes and toys, and Martha dresses herself, with a little help."

(Her oldest daughter declared: "Call me Marty, I don't like Martha.")

The Presbrey daughters are seldom dressed alike. Doing so, their mother believes, would destroy their individuality. The same holds true in the case of mother-daughter fashions, in Martha's opinion.

THREE COUSINS HERE

Marty accompanied her parents to Atlanta, the first such trip for the blonde, blue-eyed youngster.

"I want her to meet her three little cousins here," Martha explained.

Mrs. Presbrey's sister, Mrs. William E. Edwards, and her family are Atlanta residents.

Atlanta is no stranger to the noted television personality. Her mother, the late Mrs. Earl S. Rountree, lived here for several years. Martha's brother, Rodman, who is now her promotion manager, attended Druid Hills School and Marietta College here.

Martha and Oliver honeymooned at Sea Island, where they entertained Gov. and Mrs. Herman Talmadge who flew there to see the couple.

Garden Clubs Sound Bright Symphony Note

By ELIZABETH MORGAN

Garden Clubbers are giving the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra a colorful, artistic send-off for the new season with their Symphony Flower Show.

The show, which began yesterday and ends today in the Atlanta Garden Center at Rich's, features an amazing variety of arrangements interpreting parts of the program offered in the symphony's new season.

Garden club enthusiasts competed for ribbons in nine artistic arrangement classes and five horticulture classes—a new feature of the show.

BUFFET TABLES

Five buffet tables of different furniture periods arranged as "After the Symphony Tables" formed one of the most striking exhibits.

The "Carmen" interpretations with all their grace and fire fascinated visitors to the show. But the five entries of junior garden clubbers from age 8 to 14 who arranged their impressions of "Peter and the Wolf" in figures and foliage charmed the onlookers.

Top award among all arrangements classes went to an "After the Symphony Table" designed by Mrs. Carlton Mobley and Mrs. Girard B. Brownlow Jr. of the Planters Garden Club. They arranged a buffet table called "Impressionism" and earned the judges' comment, "Exquisite and decidedly distinctive."

"PETER AND THE WOLF"

A special tricolor ribbon, as well as a blue ribbon, was pinned on Miss Rosa Young's interpretation of "Peter and the Wolf." The junior gardener, of the East Lake Garden Club, put a figure of Peter, the cat, the bird, and the wolf in a forest of driftwood, moss and pine needles.

The best horticultural entry of the show earned a tricolor and blue ribbons, too. Mrs. H. H. Huckleba walked off with top prize for her collection of three luscious roses—one Peace and two Confidence. A runner-up ribbon was pinned on a vase of three dahlias entered by Mrs. Albert Chi. The flowers were rich and full-blooming in yellow, deep fuchsia, and lavender.

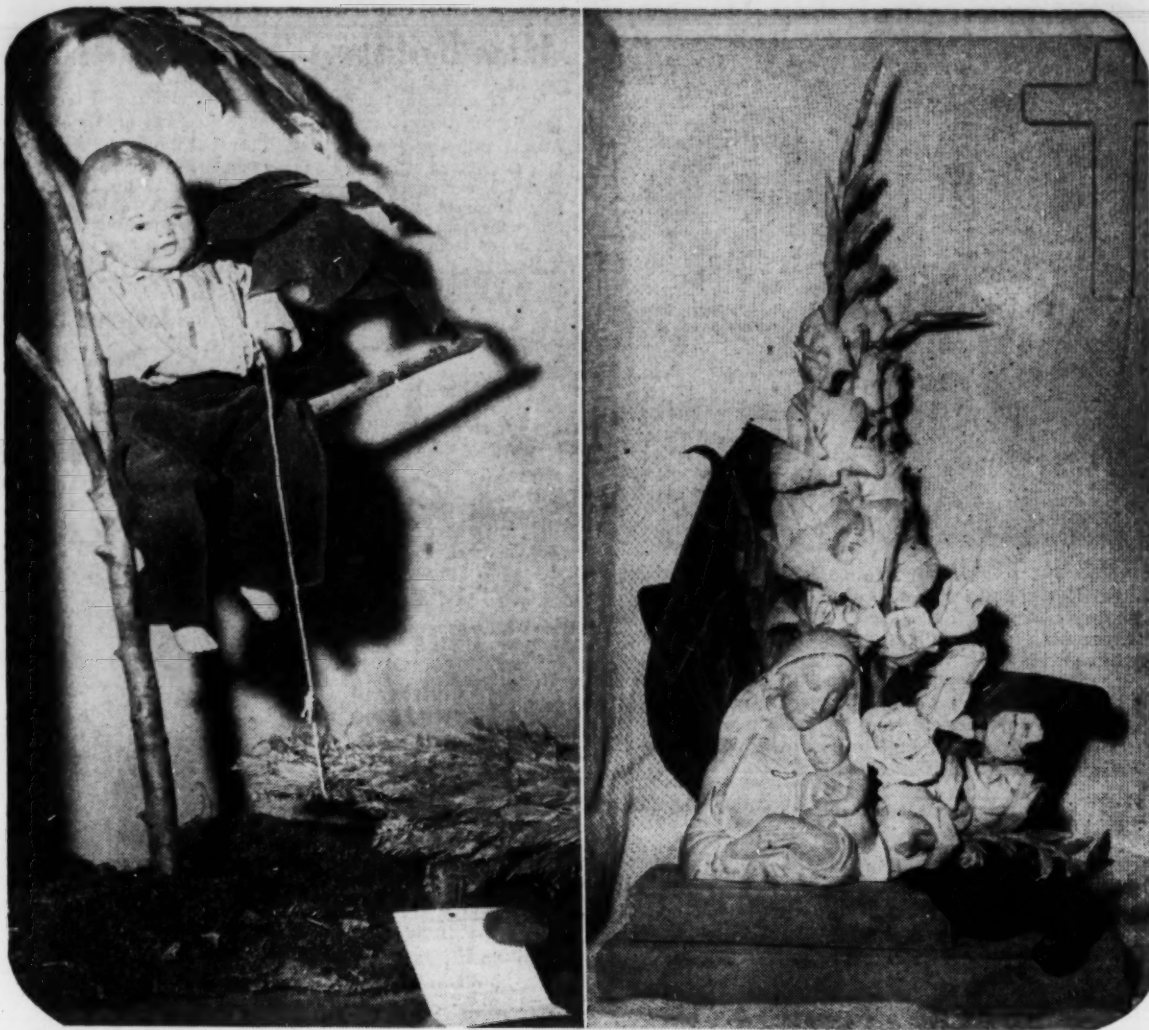

"THE MESSIAH"

A colorful, symbolic interpretation of "The Messiah" won a blue ribbon for Mrs. J. F. Goode and Mrs. Dorothy Pattillo of the Utoy Club. Golden gladioli tinged with orange and a Madonna and Child figure symbolized new life.

The judges awarded a blue ribbon in the "Dried Color Charm" class to Mrs. L. W. Metcalf of the Floramour Club. Mrs. W. Wailes Thomas of Four Seasons Garden Club depicted a "Snow Queen" and won the first prize in the "Ballet Grace" class. Her display featured a sparkling crown on a cut-glass bowl and white flowers with a splash of green.

The winning "Harvest Bounty" entry displayed a strikingly sensuous use of figures, fruit and color. Mrs. W. D. Hubler of the Utoy Garden Club took the blue ribbon for her use of a rich harvest of limes, peppers, pears and grapes in yellows, oranges, greens and reds.

"Leafy and Fallish"—a difficult class to produce eye-catching arrangements—won first prize for Mrs. E. B. Hutson and Mrs. C. C. Jackson of Palmetto Garden Club. Their use of dark purples, reds, greens and browns in graceful design earned the judges' comment, "Skillful manipulation of materials."

True to the tradition of "Carmen," the rich red colors showed up in the five entries in that class. Mrs. W. J. Haymaker of the Rose Garden Club mounted a crescent-shaped stalk of scarlet gladioli on a tambourine and placed the display on a brightly embroidered piece of heavy silk. The judges pinned a blue ribbon on her display with the comment, "Choice of colors and material quite appropriate."

"Dried But Graceful" perfectly described Mrs. L. L. McMullan's blue ribbon arrangement. The St. Charles Garden Clubber put together a graceful curved branch, dried pomegranates and glossy brown leaves to produce a rhythmic composition.

Horticulturists got a chance to show their growing skills. Every flower, fruit and vegetable imaginable was displayed for the judges' choice.

Blue ribbons went to Mrs. H. H. Huckleba who won four, Mrs. E. F. Edwards, Mrs. Hugh Howell, Mrs. E. E. Whittaker with two, Mrs. Albert Uhl who won two, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Kennedy, Nelson Crist who took two, Mrs. Theo Jackson, Mrs. Frank Wade, P. N. Demos with two and the Roxboro Garden Club.

Bilko, Pals Start Strong But Falter

By J. P. SHANLEY

(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—Master Sgt. Ernie Bilko and his platoon of Army motor-pool sad sacks began their second hitch on television tonight.

For the first half of the program the sergeant, played by Phil Silvers, and his brothers-in-arms were immensely funny. The idea of this unit of khaki-clad clowns performing in an Army training film on "The Prevention of Sludge and Fouling of the Spark Plug" seemed inspired.

But the bright idea lost its luster as the training film became a Hollywood production with dancing girls and music. Last season the show sometimes departed from the barracks comedy formula without sacrificing its sparkle. The first production of the new season went too far off post and became heavy-handed.

Even the rowdy buffoonery of Silvers and Maurice Gosfield could not save the situation.

TAKING IT EASY—A touch of Western music adds to the dude ranch vacation of Robert Young's Anderson family which will be featured on Channel 2 at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. Jane Wyatt portrays Mrs. Anderson in the series about an average American family.

Talmadge Faces Quiz By Press Panel Tonight

Senator-nominee Herman Talmadge will face a panel of top newspaper reporters Wednesday when NBC-TV's Nation's Press Conference originates in the studios of WSB-TV at 7 p.m.

The show, which has attracted nine Washington correspondents to Atlanta, will be carried by 125 NBC stations and 400 Mutual radio outlets from coast to coast.

Martha Rountree, originator of the program and a former co-producer of Meet the Press, said she expected the show to attract widespread interest. She said newsmen in Washington were especially anxious to interview Talmadge following his recent nomination to the Senate post to be vacated by Sen. George.

She pointed out that Talmadge's appearance on Meet the Press and other public affairs shows have been followed by record numbers of letters from viewers and listeners.

Talmadge will be questioned by 16 reporters about his views on segregation, foreign policy and other topics.

The panel will consist of Ruth Montgomery, International News Service; Jack Spalding, Atlanta Constitution; David Sentner, Hearst Newspapers' Washington Bureau chief; Herman Lowe, Philadelphia Daily News; John O'Donnell, New York Daily News; Patricia Wiggins, United Press; Richard Harkness, NBC, Washington; John Madeglin, Newsweek Magazine; John C. Henry, Washington Evening Star; Raleigh Bryans, Atlanta Journal; William Howland, Time Magazine; and George Dixon, King Features Syndicate.

Television stations in this area carrying the program in addition to WSB-TV, are WSAV-TV, Savannah; WALB-TV, Albany; WRGP-TV, Chattanooga; WIS-TV, Columbia, S.C.; and WFBG-TV, Greenville, S.C.

Radio station WQXI in Atlanta will rebroadcast the program at 10 p.m.

Jack Webb's 'Zoo' Has A Commercial Smell

By JACK GOULD

(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—A new type of full color spectacular was offered tonight on television; it was Jack Webb's 30-minute commercial for Mr. Webb.

The actor, normally identified on the screen as Sergeant Friday in "Dragnet," is the producer of a new series called "Noah's Ark," a situation series dealing with the emotional problems of the world of veterinarians. "Medic" at the zoo, as it were.

Instead of getting on with the show tonight, however, Webb occupied the half hour by imploring the viewer to believe that he had found competent actors, good stories and human values that would touch the heart. In this connection he promised that the set owner could look forward to hearing about a monkey who lost its teeth, a cow that gave milk of sub-par butterfat content and a misunderstood circus lion that had become vicious.

sion of a flier racing against a dwindling fuel supply never fully materialized because the characterizations were so superficial and wooden. Scott Brady, Joan Hotchkiss, Kenneth Tobey and Ted De Corsica complied with the necessary Grade B amenities.

Randolph Churchill In Trouble on Quiz

Randolph Churchill, the tempestuous gentleman of London journalism and son of the former prime minister, ran into a sticky wicket tonight on "The $64,000 Question." He chose "The English Language" as his category and did brilliantly until he came to his second question. Then he couldn't associate the Land-Leaguers of Ireland with the word "boycott" and was left gasping for help. Hal March, however, charitably gave him a slow count and Churchill was saved by the closing commercial. He will try again next week to get up to $128.

Jet Plane Drama Is Slow Starter

Warner Bros. introduced another film series tonight under the title of "Conflict." The first story was called "Shock Wave," a drama of men who test superjet planes. The excitement and ten-

Market Shaken

By $1-$4 Losses

Biggest Setback in Month;

Motors Buck Lower Trend

By WALTER BUSSEWITZ

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (AP)—The stock market suffered its biggest setback in almost a month today with numerous key issues down 1 to 4 points a share.

There was some improvement in the afternoon and many stocks made a partial recovery but remained in the minus column in most cases.

Motors, bolstered by the approach of the new models, bucked the lower trend, as they did yesterday. Chrysler stepped ahead 1 1/2 points while the others were unchanged to fractionally higher.

TECHNICAL BUG
 It was the eighth decline in the market in nine sessions. Brokers said the market has not been performing well from a technical viewpoint and offered this as the main cause for today's selling.

Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped $1.50 to $179.70, its highest fall since it tumbled $2.10 on Aug. 21 when bank interest rates were hiked.

Based on the average, the decline clipped an estimated $2,300,000,000 from the quoted value of all stocks listed on the New York Exchange.

680 ISSUES BACK OFF
 Industrials fell $3.20, rails $1.60 and utilities 30 cents. Of 1,151 issues traded, only 224 advanced as 680 declined. Seven stocks touched new highs and 85 made new lows.

Chemicals, steels and aircrafts were the weakest divisions, although steels shaved their losses in late trading.

Union Carbide already was lower when it was announced it would acquire Visking Corp. of Chicago. Carbide then improved slightly, only to slip farther back Visking rose 1/4 to 43 1/4.

MANY RAILS LOSE
 Changes in oils were narrow, with Gulf up 1/4 and Royal Dutch off 1/4. Numerous rails lost around a point, with Kansas City Southern dropping 1 1/4.

The American Stock Exchange was lower and moderately active. Creole Petroleum advanced 2 1/4 and A&P 1 1/4. Going down were Barium Steel, Pantepec Oil, Woodley Petroleum and St. Lawrence Corp.

Corporate bonds took sharp losses in a lower market. U. S. Treasury obligations were higher for the second straight day.

Corporation Dividends Up 15 Pct.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Cash dividends paid by corporations during the first eight months of this year ran 15 per cent above the same period of 1955 and seemed well on the way to setting a new annual record, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department said figures covering corporations issuing public reports showed dividends in August amounted to 293 million dollars, or a gain of 30 million over the month in 1955. August typically is a light month for dividend payments.

$821 MILLION GAIN This gain brought total dividends paid in the first eight months to $6,383,000,000, compared with $5,564,000,000 for the similar period a year ago. This was a gain of about $821 million dollars.

In the final four months of 1955 dividend payments were just under five billion dollars. Thus, if the 1956 rate continues even at the pace of closing 1955, dividend payments will run more than 11 billion dollars. This would compare with the nearly 10 billion dollar record set a year ago.

PRODUCTION AND MARKET

"Like most other economic indicators," the Commerce Department said, "dividends have continued to rise this year as a high and rising rate of new business investment has added both to production capacity and to the size of the national market."

The report showed dividends were up for nearly every industry group with automobiles and non-ferrous metals showing the biggest gains. Advances of 10 to 20 per cent were shown by most of the other manufacturing groups.

$1 Billion Sales In Boats, Gear Expected in '56

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (AP)—Americans will spend nearly one billion dollars this year on outboard boats and boating equipment, the industry expects.

Howard F. Larson, director of sales and marketing for Evinrude Motors, Milwaukee, said today.

Evinrude, he said, expects to increase its sales 35 per cent this year for the largest single increase in the company's 47-year history. A further sales increase of nearly 35 per cent is expected for fiscal 1957, he said.

Larson said some five million outboard motors are now chugging across the lakes and rivers of the nation. By the end of the year the industry will have sold 600,000 motors with a retail value of 226 million dollars, he declared, and industry sales for 1957 are expected to total 700,000 units with a dollar volume of 280 millions.

DESIGNED FOR SAFETY—NEW YORK, Sept. 18—Frank J. Crandell, left, of Wellesley, Mass., and Edward R. Dye, head of the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory's safety research department, display the drawing of an experimental auto designed to reduce injury and death rate. The car features relocation of the driver to center of front seat, elimination of steering wheel in favor of two levers, and bucket seats. Newsmen were told the "crash-proof" car would reduce injury and death rate in auto accidents by 50 per cent.

Gold Coast To Be Free In March

(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)
LONDON, Sept. 18—The British government announced today that the Gold Coast will be given independence next March 6. The decision is subject to parliamentary approval but this is considered certain.

The West African colony, which is to change its name to Ghana, will become a full-fledged member of the British Commonwealth. Britain will be represented, as in other commonwealth countries, by a governor-general but the Gold Coast will have full responsibility for national affairs.

MAY INCLUDE TOGOLAND

British Togoland, which is administered by the United Kingdom as a United Nations trust territory, will be included within the independent nation if the UN General Assembly endorses this move. In a plebiscite under UN auspices in May, the Togoland electorate voted by a large majority for union. Subsequently the UN Trusteeship Council recommended termination of the trusteeship agreement upon attainment of independence by the Gold Coast.

FOLLOWS ELECTION

Britain's decision to grant the colony full independence was announced by Alan Lennox-Boyd, the colonial secretary, last May. He asked that a general election be held to determine the will of the people and said if the newly-elected legislative assembly approved a motion asking independence he would fix a firm date for it.

In the election last July, the Governmental Convention People's party won with a majority of over two-thirds.

The two, the first Negroes to be admitted to the privately endowed law school, are Edward M. Porter and Frederick T. Work of Nashville.

Bad Check Charges Lasso Floridan Selling Rich Tale to Cuban Consul

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 18 (AP)—Joe Scales, 37, who told a fantastic story last week of being handed 2 million dollars, was arrested in the Cuban consulate here today on bad check charges.

Scales was telling the same story of the 2-million-dollar gift to the Cuban consul when he was taken into custody by Constable George Brown.

He is charged with passing bad checks in Jacksonville, Starke, Tampa and Perry. He also faces a warrant in Miami where he was accused of skipping out on a $489 hotel bill. In 1954, Scales and his former wife, Alice Groag, were convicted of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Scales explained the bad check charges from the county jail by saying that his wife kept track of his personal account and she had been ill in Milwaukee, Wis., with her parents. "I didn't know what was outstanding and what wasn't," he said.

Scales, son of a prominent state legislator and Perry banker who died in 1947, still insisted that a mysterious millionaire named Juan T. Wrigo gave him 2 million dollars to invest for 20 years before he has to return it.

Georgian and Son of Atlantan Died in Flaming B52 Crash

MADERA, Calif., Sept. 18—Air Force investigators believe an electrical failure set fire to a huge B52, causing it to crash near here Monday, killing five—including a Georgian and a sergeant whose mother lives in Atlanta—of its seven-man crew.

The dead include M/Sgt. John T. Brown, 33, of Chester, Pa., survived by his widow, Betty, of Atwater, Calif., and his mother, Mrs. Mildred R. Brown of Atlanta.

T/Sgt. Raymond B. Riggs, 42, of Claxton, survived by his widow, Bertha, and two sons of Atwater, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn B. Riggs of Tampa, Fla.

They were trapped when the giant, swept-winged plane plummeted to the earth in flames from an altitude of 6,200 feet. The pilot and co-pilot of the intercontinental jet bomber were ejected from their compartment and parachuted to safety.

Jury To Get Principal-Beating Case; Counter-Warrant by Mother Denied

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 18 (AP)—Mrs. Emma West, 27, bound mother of three children, today was bound over to the Hamilton County grand jury on a felonious assault charge in connection with the beating of a school principal last Friday.

At the same time, General Sessions Judge John J. Lively refused defense attorney James Carroll's request for an assault and battery bench warrant against Principal G. S. Mayberry, who Carroll said struck both Mrs. West and her mother, Mrs. Jackie Marshall.

Mayberry, wiry, six-foot principal of Harrison Elementary School near here, testified the 31-year-old Mrs. West attacked him earlier Friday that two of her children, Eugene, 10, and Francis, 9, were "disrupting" a third grade class.

The 28th annual national championships recently concluded in New York City, produced the largest single turnout of bridge players ever assembled under one roof. In the main event, the Masters Knock-out Team-of-Four, the field of 80 entries, after four days of play was reduced to eight teams and these eight spent the next four days in a round robin contest to determine the winner and the right to represent the United States in the world's championship contest to be waged in New York next January. Representing Europe will be the Italian aggregation which recently dethroned France at the European championships in Stockholm.

Victorious after a "hammer and tongs" battle were Helen Sobel, Peter Leventritt, William Searnon, Harold Ogust Boris Koytchou, and your correspondent. In international contests the full team of four complement is six players, with two sitting out each round. It was my pleasure to sit out

Gov. Collins Tells of Dixie Plans For A-Energy in Our Magazine

How nuclear development will boost the South's already flourishing economy is the subject of an exclusive interview with Gov. LeRoy Collins of Florida in this Sunday's Atlanta Journal and Constitution Magazine. Gov. Collins is a leader in the movement to bring atomic enterprise to the South, and he draws a vivid picture of the nuclear strides already taken by the Southern states.

Ruling Backs GIs on Homestead Tax

A member of the armed services who fails to file a personal property tax return should not be deprived of his homestead exemption if he is otherwise qualified.

That is the unofficial opinion rendered Tuesday by Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook.

Miss Florine C. Rainey, Houston County tax collector, asked Cook if a serviceman away from his home would have to declare his automobile for taxes in his home county before he could be eligible for homestead exemption.

The law provides, Cook wrote, that "absence of a person from his residence because of duty in the armed forces of the United States will not be considered as a waiver upon the part of such person in applying for a homestead exemption."

In another unofficial opinion, asked by Mrs. G. W. Gannon, Johnson County ordinary, Cook held that counties should pay for the mailing of absentee ballots and voting instructions.

The attorney general noted that the 1956 Legislature repealed the code section which required the absentee voter to pay the cost of mailing the ballots and instructions to him.

"By the elimination of the requirement that the applicant forward sufficient postage with his request, the General Assembly removed the statutory authority to require the applicant to forward with his application for a ballot sufficient postage for the return of the ballot," Cook said.

"Therefore," he added, "it must be assumed that the General Assembly intended that the counties, as a part of the expense of collections, should forward absentee ballots."
